

CITY JAILOR REMOVED IN BAIL SCANDAL

Chief Drew Takes First Step To Break Up Alleged Ring of Bond Brokers, Police; Officer Put Back On Beat

E. A. Kimmel, On Prison Duty For Years, Accused of Suggesting Names To Suspects Taken To Cells

Chief of Police James T. Drew today took the first step toward the breaking-up of the alleged combination of bail-bond brokers and police officers existing at the city hall.

His action follows hard on the heels of the investigation, recalls of judges, and jail sentences resulting of the San Francisco ball bond ring's operations last year.

Today Chief Drew issued an order removing E. A. Kimmel, for many years jailor at the city prison, from that office and putting him back on street duty in the Central district, to take effect Sunday.

JAILOR ACCUSED OF SUGGESTING BROKERS.

The affair came to a head nine days ago when August Cont of 238 Broadway was arrested on a charge of violating the national prohibition act. When taken to the jail he is alleged to have asked the jailor to notify James Rohan Jr., a bond broker.

Cont told Chief Drew in front of Kimmel that the jailor told him that besides Rohan, and mentioned the names of Charles Meyers, Cont, according to Drew, told the jailor to send for either one of them, that he did not care so long as he got out.

CHARGES DENIED BY REMOVED OFFICER.

Meyers, Chief Drew says, was notified and got a release from United States Commissioner Albert M. Hardie for the prisoner.

In the meantime Rohan appeared before the Commissioner, after he had been notified by friends of the jailor in order to settle the dispute. Commissioner Hardie directed Cont to select his broker. He selected Rohan.

Kimmel, in discussing the case, said: "I have never recommended any bond broker to any of the prisoners. I don't remember having any conversation with Cont. I don't say that I did not have a conversation, because when I come on duty have to talk to a number of prisoners."

OFFICER TURNS IN HIS STAR FOLLOWING QUIZ.

Wilbur Smith, a probationary policeman, turned in his star to Police Chief Drew today following a quiz given to him by the chief in the street fight at Eleventh and Linden streets on account of which Police Officer Joseph Otis was discharged from the department. Smith was threatening to beat when A. R. Church, Dewey Connelley, Rick Frank and James Thompson elected to "fight it out."

THREE MINUTE TALES

The Boy Wonder

by AD SCHUSTER

EVERYWHERE that Alfredo the Boy Wonder went he was accompanied by Old Melcher. In front of the footlights on the Royal Vaudeville Circuit the pale lad with the long black hair and big brown eyes was known and loved for the music that came from his violin. Nobody knew Melcher.

A few years back the old man, now the proud guardian of Alfredo, had taught music in a large school in the Middle West. He was not unknown then, and he was still a few artists, here and there, who owed their success to his training. The years had not treated him kindly. His pupils had left him, and he was now a bald-headed old man. Melcher packed The Boy Wonder's grips, arranged hotel accommodations, and handled the railroad tickets.

One night in Medburg, Melcher's old home town, Alfredo took his audience by storm. He had never played so well, and with the close of the act, the audience began to leap over the footlights with their applause. There was a splendid maturity in the boy's tone, a note of defiance strangely reminiscent of the night when, as who stood, half abashed, in the calcium. Alfredo became a hero, modest and receptive.

Melcher escorted the lad every evening that week to one place or another where host or hostess was boasting the presence of the young musician—and left him at the door. He denied himself the sight of the boy being lionized, and after his habit reflected that no one wanted an old man around.

At these dinners Alfredo was in his element. He was the actor's love for adults, and with a show of modesty, glowed at the tributes paid him. There was not even the effort of a boy for a host, a thing which the boy explained was forbidden in the contract.

The last evening of Alfredo's stay in Medburg, Melcher felt strangely ill. Before the time for the act appeared, he was around the town in the neighborhood where he had once been known recalling incidents of his life there when Alfredo's mother had been his host, a thing which the boy explained was forbidden in the contract.

"I can't look after him much longer," the old musician said. "Your boy will have to take care of himself pretty soon."

Alfredo made the audience like the "sad stuff." There were signs of pain and farewell in the notes he played and dropped like tears. It was as if the boy's heart was broken at leaving, and there were only a few who shook themselves from the spell to realize that such a thing could not be sufficient for a motive which emphasized the violin. Those who understood music knew that the boy was profoundly stirred and that the spell of the approaching genius was waiting discovery.

With the final note there was a silence greater than applause. Then came the rustle of programs the pounding of palms, and the applause broke into a roar. The audience became so many persons looking for hats and coats.

"The dear little boy," said a woman who struggled with her veil to do hope that he will come again.

Back of the drop there was a slight commotion. Old Melcher, who had played while the boy went through the motions, had collapsed.

Ventura Garage Man Reports Seeing Pre-Dawn Speeder Few Hours After Taylor Killed At L. A. Residence

Mabel Normand Faces New Quiz When She Recovers From Breakdown; Man Who Heard Shot Missing

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASER WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Margaret Snyder, employed by a private detective agency here, was summoned to the office of State's Attorney Crowe today for questioning in connection with the death of William Desmond Taylor at Los Angeles. This action was taken on the telegraphed request of District Attorney Woolwine of Los Angeles. Woolwine's telegram indicated a belief that Mrs. Snyder might have knowledge that Taylor was killed by blackmailers.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—While detectives searched the files of telephone companies for messages received or sent by William Desmond Taylor, slain film director, in hopes of finding a clew to his murder and the motive behind the mystery, other investigators checked the story of a Ventura garage man who told a beautiful young woman, wrapped in an evening cloak and bareheaded, who drove through Ventura at a dizzy rate of speed at 3 o'clock the morning after Taylor was murdered.

The garage man said he supplied her machine with gasoline and oil. "She was in an evening gown and wore a cloak," the man said. "Her face was drawn and pale and her hair had been blown down by the force of the wind as she drove. "Give me all the gasoline and oil my car will take," she said. While I was filling the tank, she lit at her white gloves and showed signs of restlessness and anxiety to be on her way. She drove off without waiting for her change."

The questioning of Mabel Normand was one of today's probabilities in the case.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE TO QUIZ MABEL AGAIN.

Questioning of Miss Normand is to be deferred until she has recovered from the illness, which is causing her friends much concern. She is to be questioned this time by representatives of the sheriff's office, who desire to clear up a number of points raised during the reenactment by William Davis, Mabel Normand's chauffeur, of his recollection of events of the night of February 1, when the film star visited Taylor's home a few minutes before his death. According to reports, Sheriff Davis placed the time of the departure of the Normand car after Taylor had escorted Miss Normand to the curb at 7:40. This was the first time she had been brought out. Officials, working on the case, placed little credence in the report that a threatening missive had been found. District Attorney Woolwine said he had no such document.

According to the letter, the missive was written by a man who had been stigmatized shortly after the world war as a "slacker" by Taylor. Smarting under this, the man was said to have sworn to "get even" with the film director.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—"Slim Jim" Stewart, the disappearing bootlegger, walked out of the "movie murder" case again today and with him went the last tangible clew to the slayer of William Desmond Taylor.

"Slim Jim" is the informant who told District Attorney Woolwine of hearing a shot and seeing a woman hurry from Taylor's home.

He offered corroborative evidence. Woolwine despatched several operatives, headed by Charles Jones, former police chief, to check on it.

The evidence was substantial in some details, directed to others. Woolwine's office today with instructions to comb the city for "Slim Jim," bring him in and it is said—keep him in.

BLANK MAIL SUSPECTS ARE NOT INVOLVED.

After grilling the eight blackmail suspects captured yesterday in a gun fight with federal officers and deputy sheriffs, postoffice inspectors today decided they had no connection with the Taylor case.

"We established the fact that these men, who are Russians, did not even know that Taylor had been murdered," the inspector's office told the United States.

Checking up on Taylor's assets resulted in the conclusion today that several thousand dollars' worth of oil stock and considerable money is

Sissyism Under Ban By College Five-Minute Eggs

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—The Contraternity of Five-Minute Eggs was organized at the University of Chicago to combat sissyism yesterday. Charter members posed for their pictures with a nickel's worth of navy twist in each jaw.

Women can and do smoke cigarettes," said Daniel P. Moore of the university swimming team, who was elected president of the Five-Minute Eggs. "Some smoke pipes and cigars but they can't chew tobacco. Neither can they go ten fast rounds with the gloves. If we suspect a candidate of being a sissy, one of the requirements for entrance will be a ten-round bout."

General Sales Tax or Postponement Of Soldier Bonus, Urges President

Harding's Letter Offers Solution of Vexed Problem

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The text of President Harding's letter on the bonus follows:

My Dear Mr. Foraker:—In accordance with the promise made to yourself and your associates on the Senate and House committees, charged with responsibility of formulating the proposed bonus legislation, I have carefully looked into the program of taxation which has been suggested. In addition thereto, I have made inquiry into the feasibility of issuing either short-term treasury notes or long-term bonds to meet the financial obligations which the proposed legislation will impose.

It is not possible to commend to you either of the plans suggested. It continues to be my best judgment that any congressional legislation enacted at this time ought to carry with it the provisions for raising the needed revenues and I find myself unable to suggest any considerable plan other than that of a general sales tax. Such a tax will distribute the cost of rewarding the ex-service men in such a manner that it will be borne by all the people whom they served and does not commit the government to the imposition of taxes or the resumption of the burdens repeated, the maintenance of which can be justified only by a great war emergency.

GENERAL SALES TAX IS ONE SOLUTION.

Granting that it is not fair to oppose any proposed plan without offering a substitute, let me repeat that I accept the view that the American people will accept the levy of a general sales tax to meet the proposed bonus payments and we should contribute thereby no added difficulties to the problems of readjustment. If Congress would accept such a plan, it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large outlay. We are driving for large economies, are pushing the disposition of surplus war property and have other things under consideration which ought to prove a great relief to the federal treasury. It is not consistent to enact legislation in anticipation of these things, but it would be a prudent plan to await the developments, and I can see in such a postponement no lack of regard for the service men in whom all the American people are so genuinely interested.

SERVICE MEN ARE ALSO CONCERNED.

I take it that the ex-service men themselves are no less concerned than others about the restoration of business and return to abundant employment. Those of their wounded or sick comrades, who were impaired by their war service, are being cared for with the most general generosity of the nation as a whole. There are here and there exceptional cases of neglect and attending complaint, but we are seeking them out and correcting with all possible speed. It is not been possible to meet all the demands for special hospitalization but we are building to that end, without counting the cost. We are expending $400,000,000 a year in compensation, hospitalization and readjustment. These things are being done to reassure you that such delay as will enable Congress to act in prudence for the common good will have no suggestion of unkindness for any truly yours.

PECEMEAL PAYMENT IS NOT DESIRED

Harding States That Unless Congress Willing to Adopt Sales Tax Action Soldier Bonus Should Be Delayed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The soldier bonus should be postponed until there is a more favorable time, unless Congress is willing to adopt a general sales tax, President Harding declared in a letter to Chairman Fordney of the House ways and means committee today.

The President's letter makes it doubtful if a bonus bill will be passed. Strong opposition to the sales tax exists in Congress.

Harding expressed the belief that the country would favor a general sales tax to pay the bonus. The President put the bond issue back to Congress by emphatically stating:

"If Congress will not adopt such a plan (sales tax) it would be wise to let the legislation go over until there is a situation which will justify the large outlay."

The President declared against a piecemeal payment plan and the issue of short-term securities of long-term bonds to meet the financial obligations of the bonus would impose on the treasury.

The President's letter was regarded generally as the cutoff point leaving the bonus situation even more complicated than before. Senate and House sub-committees will meet and consider the White House communication.

When the sales tax was discussed in the sub-committees last week it was understood that Senators were informed that less than 100 Republican votes in the House could be mustered for a sales tax as a method of financing the adjusted compensation. Such a tax has been considered by House leaders as a possibility, but virtually abandoned.

CALDER COMMENDS STAND OF PRESIDENT.

Senator Calder of New York, a Republican member of the Senate Finance committee, issued a statement commending President Harding's stand and declaring that all proposals for a cash bonus should be abandoned.

The present state of the nation's finances," said Senator Calder, "it would be a mistake to pay a cash bonus."

A committee of disabled former service men and service men now in the Walter Reed Hospital called on President Harding today, and left with him a petition asking postponement of the bonus legislation until some time when the nation is satisfied the disabled soldiers' demands as to insurance compensation.

Alakli in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins the best thing for a ready supply of hair oil—coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp, and remove all the dirt. Rub it in with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses off easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair is left soft and supple, and it leaves the scalp soothed and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, or you can get it by mail. It is equally good for every member of the family for months. Be sure your drug store gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

Electric Machinery to Replace Old Gasoline Engine in Ninety Days.

The Union Ice Company plant at Twenty-second and Filbert is now operating at full blast and, though neighbors say the noise is just as bad and nerve-racking as before, the city officials assert that the racket will soon be over and peace will reign in central-west Oakland.

After a conference with City Attorney Leon Gray, Commissioner Frank Colbourn announced today that no immediate action to halt operations will be started. The city has been given guarantees that the electric drive machinery will replace the old Diesel engine within ninety days.

"The company has the ninety days to make good," Colbourn said today. "We believe they will do it. In case this should not be done, we will promptly introduce and pass an ordinance forbidding the noisy type of engine to operate in Oakland under any circumstances, and terming such machines a nuisance."

"We do not want to drive industries out of town. We are very patient, as the ice company officials will probably admit; but we cannot submit residents to such noises, either. The final answer will come in ninety days."

LONDONERS NAME NEW COCKTAILS AFTER PRINCESS

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Habitués of one of London's most exclusive West End clubs are exulting over the success of the city's first "cocktail league"—something new in London—at which three cocktails concocted in honor of Princess Mary, who is soon to marry, were introduced.

They have been christened "The Princess Mary cocktail," "The Wedding Bell," and "The Royal Smile."

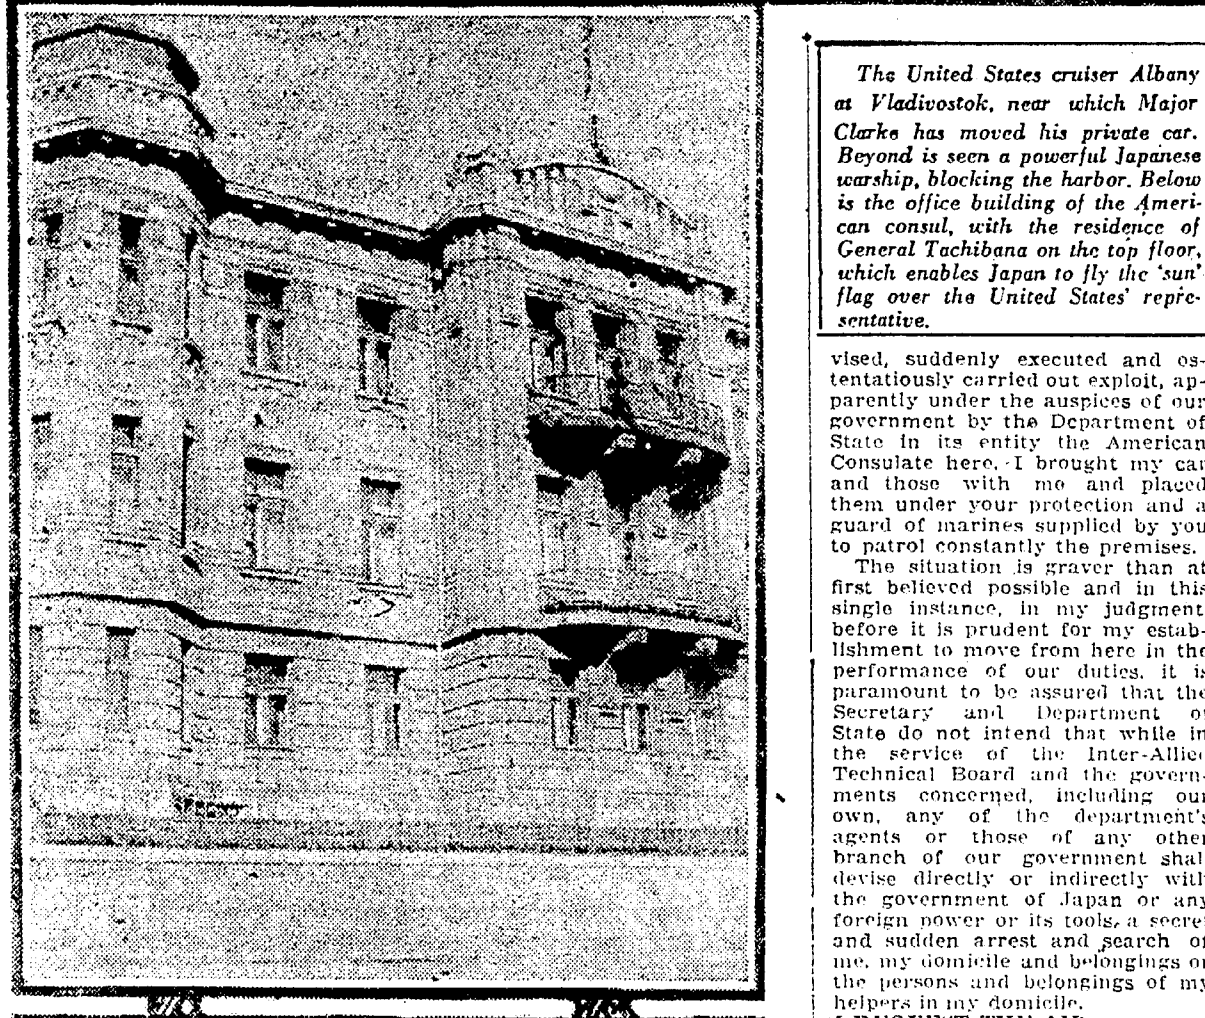

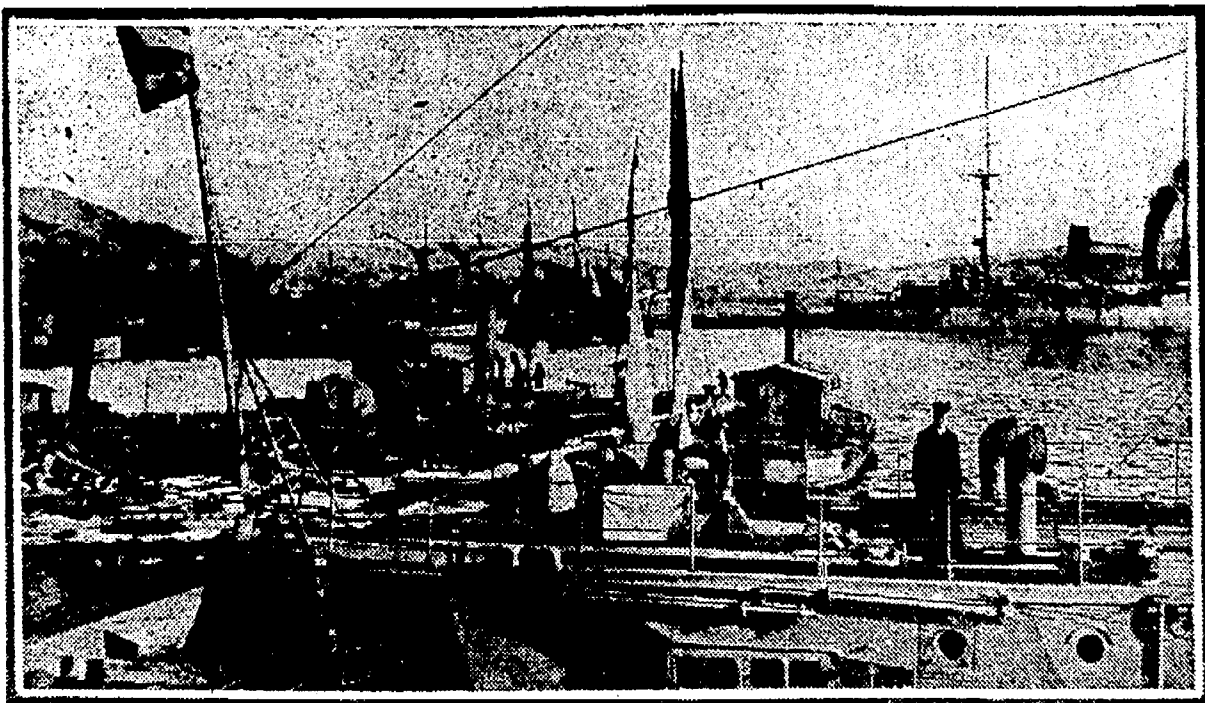

Mellon Declares He's Not Ineligible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—(By International News Service.)—Andrew D. Mellon denied today that he was ineligible to serve as secretary of the treasury.

While declining to issue a formal reply to charges of Senator Watson, Democrat of Georgia, who declared in the senate that Mellon was serving illegally because of his vast business and financial interests, the secretary of the treasury said that he was not "disturbed" by these statements because he had retired as president and director of all banks in which he was interested before becoming a member of the cabinet.

Mellon explained that his financial connections were now those of a stockholder, and said that before he accepted the portfolio as secretary of the treasury he had consulted with the late Senator Knox of Pennsylvania and had been assured that he would be eligible if he retired from active control of the companies in which he had large interests.

Warship, Marines Guard U. S. Rail Chief From Japan's Plotters in Vladivostok

The United States cruiser Albany at Vladivostok, near which Major Clarke has moved his private car. Beyond is seen a powerful Japanese warship, blocking the harbor. Below is the office building of the American consul, with the residence of General Tachibana on the top floor, which enables Japan to fly the 'sun' flag over the United States representative.

vises, suddenly executed and ostentatiously carried out exploit, apparently under the auspices of our government by the Department of State in its entirety the American Consul here, I brought my car and those with me and placed them under your protection and a guard of marines supplied by you to patrol constantly the premises.

The situation is graver than at first believed possible and in this single instance, in my judgment, before it is prudent for my establishment to move from here in the performance of our duties, it is paramount to be assured that the Secretary and Department of State do not intend that while in the service of the Inter-Allied Technical Board and the governments concerned, including our own, any of the department's agents or those of any other branch of our government shall be subjected to the indignities of the government of Japan or any foreign power or its tools, a secret and sudden arrest and search of me, my domicile and belongings or the persons and belongings of my help in my dwelling.

I REQUEST THE AID OF THE ASIATIC FLEET."

To this end and owing to denazification of our communications and my isolation by recent events, I respectfully request your aid and the aid of the Asiatic fleet in transmitting this communication to Mr. John F. Stevens, Chairman Inter-Allied Technical Board, care the Secretary of State, Washington.

I have the honor to be Very respectfully,
MAJOR F. M. CLARKE,
Representative Technical Board.
This communication was carried over to the Albany and handed to Captain Richardson. Several hours later Captain Richardson called on Major Clarke, bringing the communication, and holding it up lighted it with a match and burned it before Major Clarke's eyes, saying at the same time that nobody was going to "get" the American Consul.

Subsequently Captain Richardson called on Major Clarke and told him that he (Richardson) already had reported to Admiral Strauss, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, that the Consul, Major Clarke and himself were together, and he wasn't going to send anything like the letter Mr. Stevens had written to the Consul.

Vatican Delegate To U. S. Will Be Cardinal

By EDWARD STRUTT,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

ROME, Feb. 16.—Monsignor Bonzano, apostolic delegate to the United States, will be created a cardinal at the Roman Catholic consistory next month. It was learned from a source close to the Vatican today.

It is reported that Monsignor Bonzano will be succeeded as apostolic delegate at Washington by Monsignor Cattaneo, present Roman Catholic apostolic delegate to Australia.

Monsignor Bonzano arrived from Washington yesterday and is living at the American college.

The consistory next month will be the first held by Pope Pius XI. It will be held during the third week of March. Six cardinals in all will be created. Two of them may be Americans, bringing the American membership in the sacred college of cardinals up to four.

sible destruction or removal from the car of any articles at the intermediate stations.

No objections on the part of Major Clarke and of Messrs. Ivanoff and Kreslin were made. Original signed by Lieutenant Goremykin, by F. M. Clarke, by P. Kreslin and by G. Ivanoff.

Witnesses: S. Dmitrieff and another person whose signature is illegible.

By this time Major Clarke had placed his car and employees under protection of the U. S. cruiser Albany and a guard of U. S. marines, and was trying to go on with his work of keeping the Ussuri Railway working.

As this railway constitutes the Pacific terminus of the Chinese Eastern and Trans-Siberian railways. While doing this one of the secret police agents of the Merkuloff government made the following report to one of the other police stations:

About November 7, in his room, Number 14, at No. 2 Poltavskaya, chief office of the militia section or general and secret police, Colonel Turkoff, Chief of the Secret Information Bureau or Station, stated to his officers that he had seen the Chairman-President of the government, Spiridon Merkuloff, and that the latter was very angry about the stupid inspection (kloppe obisk) in Major Clarke's wagon, and, in recommending those responsible, recommended that the work should be done thus: Twenty men should be taken, given rifles, the train stopped, the wagon surrounded, the occupants taken out with all that is found there and on the following day a statement put out through the newspapers that the partisans had done it.

ATTEMPT TO REACH WASHINGTON VIA FLEET.

Owing to the secret work of the American Consul, and to the close surveillance of the Merkuloff police and of the Japanese over land communications, and having no secret means of his own for reaching his superiors, he attempted to communicate directly with John F. Stevens at Washington, through the channels of communication of the U. S. Asiatic fleet and the secret naval code. He addressed the officer of the fleet stationed at Vladivostok as follows:

VLADIVOSTOK, No. 21, 1921. Confidential.

Captain L. C. Richardson, U. S. S. Albany, etc.

My Dear Sir: At the secret order of the Japanese High Command, Major General Tachibana, General Staff and Ministry of War, Tokyo, acting on elaborate program to discredit John F. Stevens and Inter-Allied Technical Board, American Railway Mission, and their influence at Washington Conference and elsewhere throughout, and on secret authority and consent of American Consul here, I was arrested October 23 in my private car, kept there under twenty armed men with armed officers, under guard from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., and in the presence of American Consul, my personal car, and all my belongings and the persons and belongings of my Litu, Chinese, and other employees searched and an elaborate protocol of the proceedings made with apologies and also resulting denunciation by all Japanese and pro-Japanese agencies.

TORCH IS PLIED, BOMB HURLED IN BELFAST RIOTING

British Troops Reinforced to Preserve Order; 26 More Ulsterites Freed

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Twenty-six more Ulsterites, who were seized by the Irish republicans in last week's border raids, have been released. Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

BELFAST, Feb. 16.—(By the International News Service.)—British troops reinforcements arrived here today to strengthen the garrison and to assist in the preservation of order in Belfast and throughout Ulster province. They consisted of a battalion from the Warwickshire Infantry regiment, the Strabane workhouse, which has been designated as the barracks of newly-arrived troop reinforcements, was set on fire by armed men early today.

Shooting was renewed this morning. Workmen were attacked on their way to places of employment.

PHIEST AMONG INJURED
A priest—the Rev. Father McGeehan—a woman, a policeman and a civilian pedestrian were wounded by a bomb explosion in Earl street.

A police sergeant who was accidentally wounded while examining a machine gun in the police barracks died of his wounds.

A man living in Sherwood street was wounded in the breast by an unknown assailant. The victim was sitting in his home reading a newspaper when some one knocked upon the door. The householder opened the door and as he did so received a bullet.

Ten persons have died as a result of disorders since Wednesday morning. Some were shot and killed outright; others died of wounds.

REPUBLICANS ARRESTED.

BELFAST, Feb. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Seumas Monaghan, local commandant of the Irish Republican army, and two other Irish republicans, Patrick and Michael Murney, have been arrested at Newry by Ulster special constables. The officers were proceeding from Kilkeel, County Down, in the direction of Killybegs, when they were taken to Lisnare, where they were searched, and afterwards were conveyed to the Newry military barracks under heavy escort.

The Murneys are brothers of P. Murney, chairman of the Kilkeel. It is stated that an automatic pistol was found in the possession of Monaghan and seditious literature in the pockets of the two Murneys. Subsequent to their arrest, the officers were arrested by other special constables near the Silent Valley reservoir, the source of Belfast's water supply.

By ED L. KEEN,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Sinn Féin and Unionists, raged in Belfast today, while peace reigned in the territory of the Irish Free State.

The British have succeeded in placing Michael Collins, chief of the Irish Provisional government, who came to London to demand that the remainder of the troops be withdrawn from Ireland. Collins has returned to Dublin, after having accepted the British plan for a frontier liaison committee to ally along the border and settle territorial disputes. Talk of a coup d'état by De Valera's supporters to overthrow the provisional government and establish a republic has died down.

By DAVID M. CHURCH,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill in the house of commons this afternoon moved the second reading of the Irish free state act and pleaded for its speedy passage. Churchill based his appeal upon the necessity of giving comprehensive legal power to the Dublin provisional government at once to enable it to summon a general election. The free state act, the secretary said, transfers to the Irish government the powers conferred by the Anglo-Irish treaty which has already been ratified by both the Sinn Féin parliament and the British parliament.

The earliest regular military organization is attributed to Sesostris, who flourished in Egypt about 15 centuries B. C.

"FLU" CASES ON INCREASE

Public Is Warned to Guard Against Disease.

The terrible epidemic of influenza which has been raging in Europe for some time past is now beginning its deadly work in the United States. The disease has just made its reappearance on this coast, where it is said to be spreading with alarming rapidity. "Flu," as nearly everyone knows, appears at first to be nothing more than an ordinary cold, sore throat, or bronchitis. Headaches, chills and fever, and a miserable aching feeling throughout the body are some of the usual symptoms. Being highly infectious, the disease quickly attacks the lungs, when its progress is unchecked, causing congestion or pneumonia, with possibly fatal results.

During the epidemic three years ago, and on numerous occasions since, many lives were saved by the timely use of "Deo," otherwise known as Deo's Bactericidal Ointment, according to reports of physicians and others. In fact, there is no record of a case of "flu" proving fatal where "Deo" was used in the early stages.

The minute you feel a cold coming on, take no chances. Go to the nearest drug store and get a tube of genuine "Deo." Place a teaspoonful of the ointment in a hot cup of tea, and inhale the soothing vapors. This clears the air passages and helps destroy germs. Insert a quantity of "Deo" in each nostril, snuffing it up as it melts. When going to bed, rub the neck and chest thoroughly with "Deo," laying a thick layer on the chest and covering with a cloth. Carry a tube of "Deo" in your pocket and apply to the nostrils during the day as a precaution. It quickly kills raw, inflamed membranes. There's nothing better for a cold. "Deo" is guaranteed to give satisfactory results, or your druggist will refund your money. He is authorized to do so by the Dennis Mfg. Company of Berkeley, Calif. for 20 years the sole makers of Deo's Bactericidal Ointment. Be sure to ask for "Deo" and you'll get the genuine.—Advertisement.

8-Year-Old "Galli-Curci" Will Sing at Theater Benefit

MISS DORA EDITH McDEARMON, who will be seen in a D'Arlequin dance in Oakland's theatrical benefit at the Auditorium Monday afternoon and evening. A large variety of features is promised.

Other Talented Youngsters to Divide Honors With Professional Stars.

Among those who will take part in the all-star program being arranged for Oakland's theatrical benefit to be staged at the Auditorium theater next Monday afternoon and evening are several talented youngsters. While professionals from the leading theaters of the city will head each of the two bills of the day, these talented children are expected to prove alluring attractions.

Ernest Prevatt, a pupil of Miss Erna Gagne, has an unusual voice for a child. She sings both in French and Italian and has been termed an "8-year-old Galli-Curci."

Lovely and Bernice De Pasquale have been seen on local stages a number of times and will appear with three others in an act termed "The Adorable Five." This is a song and dance review. Miss Dora Edith McDearmon will be seen in a D'Arlequin dance.

The theater's bidding in making this event one of unusual merit are the Orpheum, State, Century and Pantheons. Each will send its feature act of the week to the Auditorium theater for one of the two shows.

Sailor Jailed For Terrifying Women

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Mrs. M. A. Epperly, who runs a rooming house at 455 Harrison street, was awakened early today to find herself facing two revolvers in the hands of one of her lodgers, according to her complaint to the police. At first she was too terrified to move, but eventually managed to make her escape and notified the Harbor Station. Four officers responded and at her request arrested Rasmussen, a sailor, 40 years old, charging him with exhibiting a deadly weapon in a rude and threatening manner. He had made no attempt to rob Mrs. Epperly or injure her other than to menace her with the pistols. The two guns, one loaded and one empty, were found by the police.

Caps Explode, Put Out Painter's Eye

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Randall Lindsay, 22, is at St. Mary's hospital blinded in one eye as the result of an explosion which occurred in a house at 2784 Twenty-fourth street yesterday. Lindsay was employed in the place as a painter. He tossed a match on the floor in a pile of dynamite caps. The police are investigating to determine who placed the caps in the house. The explosion blew out the windows in the house and shook other buildings within a radius of four blocks.

WOMAN ENJOYS FIRST SHOPPING ORGY

"Yes, Mrs. Brown, I am going to go on a regular shopping spree today. The woman who is coming now to take care of the children every afternoon is a wonder. She is so satisfactory I can leave her alone for hours with the children. Really, I have been so tied down with those youngsters I haven't had time to go anywhere for years. It's such a relief to go out and to know the children are all right. Tom told me about this campaign to find places for the unemployed, so we phoned to the free employment bureau. I am going out now and select a new dress, hat and coat if I don't run out of money."

"Well, Mrs. Green, don't let that worry you. Enjoy your shopping spree to the fullest. Why don't you go to 515 13th street and investigate Cherry's? You know you can get what you like there without making a payment for the next 30 days, and then pay what you like on your account each month."

DANGER OF WAR IN PACIFIC OVER, SAYS PREMIER

Lloyd George and A. J. Balfour Praise Work Done at Arms Parley.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—(By International News Service.)—The Washington conference has removed the dangers of war in the Pacific, Premier Lloyd George declared this afternoon in a speech at a luncheon given by the cabinet in honor of A. J. Balfour.

Balfour was acting head of the British delegation at the Washington conference. In addition to the cabinet, the coalition members of the Commons were present at the luncheon.

"Mr. Balfour above all others helped to clear the sky and treated great problems in a great way," said the premier. "Men who deal with international affairs in a haggling spirit make a great mistake. They are not the men for statesmanship but for horse trading. The Washington conference has relieved us of world anxiety."

President Harding's congratulations for Balfour were transmitted through George Harvey, American Ambassador to Great Britain, who was a guest at the luncheon.

"The Washington conference was one of the most notable contributions statesmanship has ever made to human peace and happiness," continued Premier Lloyd George. "The volcanic shores of the Pacific were littered with material not well covered. There was danger that the world would be precipitated into the horrors of another great war, but President Harding rendered a service to humanity by taking the situation in hand in time. As a result, mischief was removed, suspicions were cleared and the western sky was cleared."

Balfour, in replying, paid high tribute to American statesmanship. "The world owes an unaccountable debt of gratitude to the United States," said Balfour. "I am proud of the note struck by the United States. I am proud of the spirit in which the nations met the call."

Balfour complimented Charles F. Hughes, the American secretary of state, for his "courtesy, courage and wisdom" displayed throughout the negotiations.

Filipino Sailors Replace Chinese

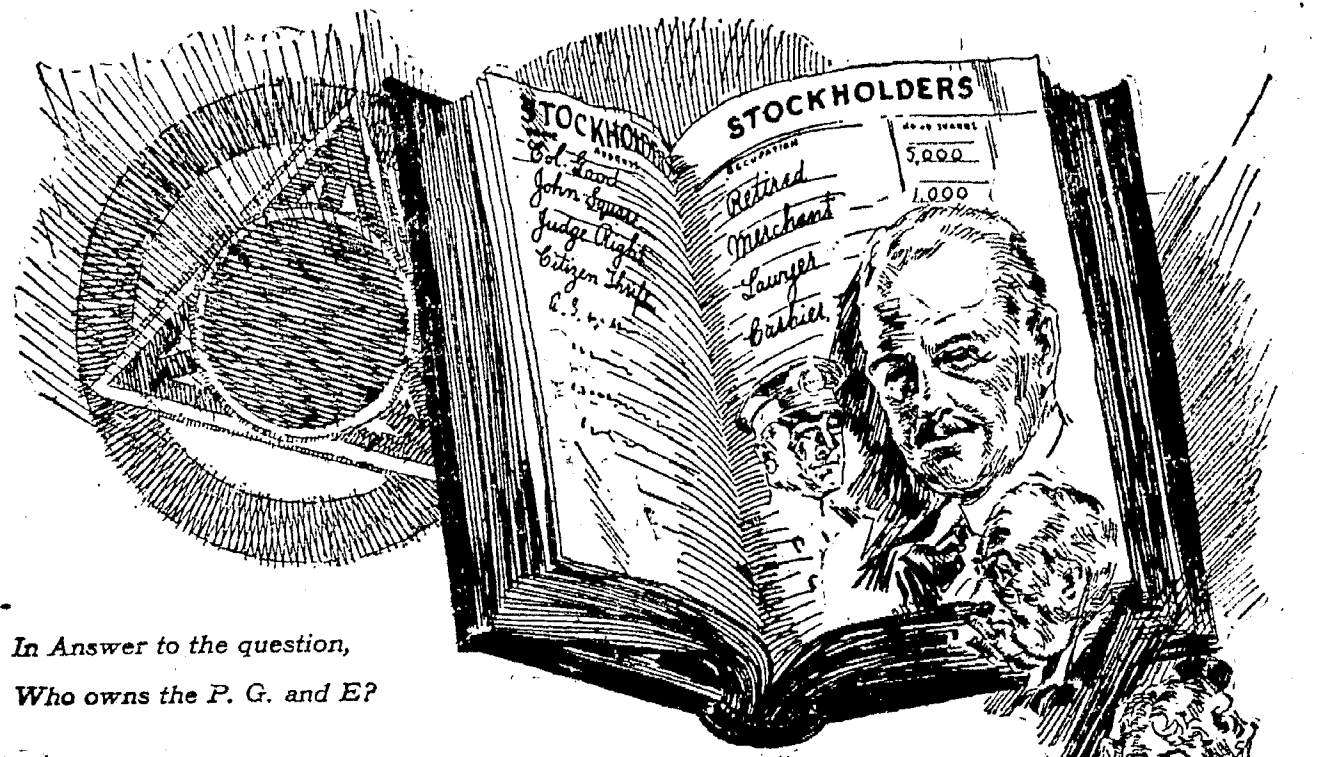

MANILA, P. I., Feb. 16.—Recruiting of Filipino seamen to replace striking Chinese at Hongkong continues. Dutch and Japanese companies having sent 150 Filipinos to Hongkong yesterday. More than a thousand Filipinos have been sent in the last month. According to Shipping Board officials here the strikers are more hostile to British shipping companies than others because, they declare, "the British have been antagonistic to the Chinese government."

Gerwin's

In Answer to the question,
Who owns the P. G. and E?

Col. Good and Neighbors own this Big Company

COLONEL GOOD and Citizen Thrifty—together with fifty thousand other people, mostly Californians—own the securities of the P. G. and E.

This information may astonish some who have imagined that public utility concerns were owned by caged-in, austere-looking plutocrats.

But genial Colonel Good, the kindly, sympathetic old friend of the family—who dares to call him a cold and calculating person?

And Merchant Square, or Judge Right—they are your neighbors. No more honorable, fair-minded fellows ever lived. Yet they are also partners in this big concern.

Some way the whole thing looks different, doesn't it, when one realizes that the millions of dollars invested in this huge Company are only the accumulated small sums of individuals who have clubbed together to build an enterprise so needed for the industrial advancement of the state?

This "public partnership" arrangement is a source of pride with the officials of this Company. They are glad that so many different people—plain folks from nearly every city, town and hamlet in the state—own the state's largest public utility concern.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company is the property of thousands of people. And everyone is invited to take shares in it.

How the P. G. & E. is Financed—

This great Company, serving as it does over 600,000 customers, quite naturally must have millions of dollars invested in equipment, and must continuously invest more money in order to adequately serve the increasing population.

This money is obtained through the sale of stocks and bonds to the people.

The par value of such outstanding securities on December 31, 1921 was $188,639,000.

The greatest portion of the securities is owned by California people.

LIVING HABITS OF STANFORD WOMEN ARE UNDER PROBE

Dean and Physical Leader To Keep Cards On Coeds' Home Life.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 16.—Living habits of the Stanford women students and their relation to scholastic efficiency are being investigated by Dean of Women Mary Yost and Dr. Clelia Mosher of the physical education department. Cards have been given to all the women students to register the number of hours sleep obtained each night and answers to other health questions. These cards will be filed and used as a basis for corrective measures.

Dean Yost explained the investigations as follows: "Too many non-academic activities are probably the chief cause of the lowered vitality of many college women. The women of the university do not realize that health habits will last for years after they have graduated from college. After the situation on the campus is more definitely known, it will be up to the women to realize the seriousness of the question and remedy it."

Portland Exposition Plans Told At Lunch

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Julius Meier, special envoy of the Atlantic and Pacific exposition which is to be held at Portland, Ore., in 1925, was entertained yesterday at luncheon at the Pacific Union Club of San Francisco by a group of prominent financiers of San Francisco and Oakland.

Meier is starting out on a tour of the world to invite the various governments to participate in the Portland exposition. The preliminary fund for the exposition amounts to $10,000,000, he informed yesterday's gathering. The luncheon was attended by fifty guests, and was presided over by C. C. Moore, former president of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition of 1915.

CLASS FIGHT AT STANFORD HAS TEETH PULLED

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 16.—When the annual freshman-sophomore baseball fight is held at Stanford next spring it will be under greatly revised regulations. Decision to modify the annual underclass brawl was decided upon by the Stanford executive committee last night after lengthy debate.

Under the new regulations there will be no organization preliminary fighting before the battle on the baseball field. Last spring three students were badly hurt.

The brawl will be confined to the baseball field. The class then gets possession of the ball will be allowed to keep it as long as it wishes.

A limit of fifteen hours was placed by the new regulations on the time to be required of freshman students in the future in working on the bonfire held at the rally preceding the Stanford-California football game.

EARLY MASONRY SHOWN IN PLAY

The largest gathering of Masons ever assembled in Oakland is expected tomorrow evening, February 21, at the Oakland Auditorium theater, when Joseph E. Morcombe's historic Masonic play, "An Eighteenth Century Lodge," will be produced by the Square and Compass Players of San Francisco.

The players, under the personal direction of Edgar M. Cameron, have brought the production to a state of perfection. The play depicts the early history of the order's work in England, the scene being laid in London in the year 1722.

The Square and Compass players are all representative business men in San Francisco, who have contributed their services gratis to the order. Most of the cast of 25 members are past masters of their various Blue Lodges, and all are either 32d or 33d degree Masons, so that the play reflects the highest and best of Masonic life.

The proceeds of the production will be apportioned to the Masonic homes of California and the Shriner's Conclave reception fund. Tickets for "An Eighteenth Century Lodge," February 21, and "When Thrones Tremble," February 25, may be procured from all secretaries of the Masonic lodges of the Eastbay cities and Alhambra Temple headquarters, Oakland, and Harrison streets, Oakland.

The performance next Tuesday evening will be for Master Masons only.

ACTIVITIES WOMEN

Orchid Tones Appointments Employed

Recognized as one of the handsomely appointed weddings of the early spring was that of Miss Eileen Costello and Adolph B. Costello Jr., which was solemnized in St. Mary's Cathedral across the bay St. Valentine's day. More than fifteen hundred guests witnessed the service that united in marriage two members of the oldest families in this part of the country. Archbishop Edward J. Hanna officiated, assisted by Rev. Father Gleason. The altars and chancel were adorned with large baskets of beautiful roses and greens. The color scheme followed out in the costumes of the bride's attendants was in the different tones of orchid.

Miss Marie Costello was the maid of honor for her sister, and wore a gown of deep orchid georgette and lace with picture and slippers to match her gown. Miss Kathleen Costello and Miss Marjorie Costello wore gowns of orchid georgette, also in the different tones. Each carried a fluffy motif of georgette and ostrich. The bride was also used in the trimming of the gowns. Lavender orchids topped the muffs.

The bridal gown was of heavy bride satin embroidered in pearls. From this shoulders hung a court train of the satin and over this one of real lace. The headpiece was a crown of pearls holding to the coiffure an outer veil of tulle which enveloped the bride. A handsome shower bouquet of white, butterfly orchids completed the costume.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Ellen M. Costello. Harry Canelo was best man and the ushers were Dr. T. T. Sherris, Joseph J. Tynan Jr., Edward Kelly and William R. Costello.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride following the church service and informal reception attended one hundred relatives and friends.

The bride is the daughter of the late James M. Costello of San Francisco and was educated at the college of the Notre Dame of San Jose.

The bridegroom was graduated from Santa Clara University and during the war served in the army, attaining the rank of captain. Canelo is an attorney in San Francisco and connected with the Bank of Italy.

The couple sailed yesterday for Honolulu, where they will spend their honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles, Knox of Berkeley are expecting their first child from St. Louis, Mo. The visitors will be the house guests of the Knoxes for the greater part of the summer. Miss Janet Knox has given up her plans to go East this spring to study and will wait until fall.

Some of the younger girls in Alameda to assist at the benefit play, "The Commuters," this evening, will

Women to Pass On Candidates? Is Undecided

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Shall the National League of Women Voters endorse political candidates? California will give answer to that important question tomorrow at a special meeting which has been called by Mrs. Frank G. Law, president of the State League of Women Voters, in room 234, Pacific building, San Francisco.

Final action of the national league will be taken at the annual convention in April, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, San Leandro and Hayward will be represented by delegations who tomorrow will cast their vote on this important question. Heretofore political action by clubs has been frowned upon by leaders and mass alike. The question arising at this time is an indication of some change on the part of the women voters.

How the question will be received is a matter for much interesting conjecture. Representatives from Oakland Center will attend the meeting free from the influence of Mrs. Maud Wood Park, national president, who will be in Oakland next month, in a recent interview declared that "the league is an all-party organization, dealing with political questions without bias or partisanship and is not affiliated with any political party. It affords opportunity for women of all parties to come together in an organization devoted solely to the interest of women as voters and there take counsel together for the accomplishment of their common aims."

Many see even in their leader's declaration of purpose no obstacle to endorsement of political candidates. It is conceded on the other hand that the conservatives will find many objections to active participation in political life.

San Francisco Center is petitioning the state board to adopt a resolution calling on the national organization to refrain from definite action on the proposed twentieth amendment to the federal constitution giving complete equality in citizenship to women until such time as will allow full discussion by local and state units. The state league officers and delegates will take action on this question tomorrow in a referendum vote Oakland Center last week did not endorse the San Francisco Center resolution.

A filled milk bill, a truth in fabrics bill, from Hayward Center, and the Ever anti-lynching bill from Berkeley Center, has been submitted to the state board tomorrow when discussion and action on recommending the measures to the national convention will take place.

Because the Pioneer Women of Oakland have already outgrown the by-laws which were adopted when a few months ago the organization was founded a part of tomorrow's session will be devoted to amending them to meet the present and future situation. Two o'clock will witness the several score of pioneers gathered in Wigwam hall, Pacific building, where the new year's work will be launched. Appointment of standing committees will be announced.

A private celebration over the receipt of their charter will be indulged in by the members during the tea hour.

"Art in the House" is the practical subject which Professor A. B. Clark, graphic art department, Stanford University, has announced for his talk before the College Women's Club, in Town and Gown clubhouse, on Saturday afternoon. The art section, Miss Laura E. Marshall, chairman, is in charge of the program. Stereoscopic slides of California and Eastern homes will be shown in illustration.

Courtesy hostesses will be: Mrs. O. P. Shelley, Mrs. H. H. Clark, Mrs. Paul Wright, Mrs. J. V. Toland, Mrs. J. H. Kimball and Mrs. H. J. Crane.

The music and drama sections will offer a program in the Bancroft club clubhouse tonight in compliment to the officers, sections and members. Miss Mary Ward Claves, program chairman, will be hostess. More than 200 invitations have been issued.

A "Pound Party" will be given by the Fruitvale Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow night in the school auditorium for the foodstuffs community gift to the unemployed. More than 100 invitations have been sent out for the entertainment, which will offer some unique features.

PERSHING KIN GETS JOB. NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Appointment of James P. Pershing Jr., nephew of General Pershing, as assistant federal prohibition director in New York state to succeed Colonel Herbert G. Catrow, was announced last night by Dr. Ralph A. Day.

RUTH ST. DENIS TO SUE FOR $500 IN DANCING ROW

Mrs. Geo. A. McGowan Did Not Pay For Appearance Of Dancer. Is Claim.

Art for art's sake is a bromide. Art now has a monetary phase which is all-important.

At least Ruth St. Denis believes this is true, for she is preparing to sue for an amount of $500 in return for artistic services.

Last May artists and intellectuals united in a unique ceremony to destroy "The Witch of Trouble" at the San Francisco home of Mrs. McGowan. Among the artists present was the celebrated dancer.

Through the efforts of the artists the witch was symbolically destroyed once and for all, but the artists did not destroy its phoenix-like characteristics and it has now achieved full growth.

According to Miss St. Denis' attorney, Frank W. Aiken, the torch-bearer artist was engaged to appear in the ceremony by the World Arts Fraternity for a consideration of $500.

The money has not yet passed from Mrs. McGowan, the treasurer, to Miss St. Denis. Mrs. McGowan remarks emphatically that the club signed the contract but "under circumstances which excuse any delay in payment."

MILK DEALERS TO EXACT 8 CENTS ON ALL BOTTLES

Association Takes Slip. It Announces. To End $1700 Monthly Loss.

A charge of eight cents on milk bottles went into effect today. It was announced by officials of the Milk Dealers' Association of Alameda county, in an effort to put to an end a collective loss of more than $1700 a month through unreturned milk containers and broken bottles.

Notification was served by the association on all grocers and stores acting as milk retailers that the charge will be exacted on each bottle, to be refunded when the bottles are returned. The dealers were notified to exact the same deposit from their customers. At the same time a new type of bottle will be gradually introduced. It will be a plain neck container without the customary trade mark. This will avoid mix-up over returning bottles of all kinds being accepted by all dealers.

Oakland has the lowest milk rate of any large California city, officials of the association said, paying from 10 to 12 cents a quart. They added, however, that this low rate can not be maintained unless the expense from lost and broken bottles are cut down. In a single month, they said, from 15,000 to 17,000 bottles, costing at an average of about 10 cents each, have been reported as thrown on the city dumps by garbage men.

The University of California last year will make up the program.

Among those who will take leading parts are Rose Bennett, Russell Eazio, Veronica Caplice, Arthur Jorgensen will represent "Cho Cho," the health clown. James Hoffman is assisting in the rehearsals.

CITY COUNCIL IN ALAMEDA DENIES SECRECY CHARGE

Salaries Restored At Regular Session, Message Sent Housewives Says.

ALAMEDA, Feb. 16.—The city council has issued a statement to the Alameda Housewives' League refuting the charges that the council has held star chamber sessions or secretly restored salaries of certain city employees.

Signed by Frank Otis, the mayor, and C. E. Hickok, the city manager, the council expressed surprise that the league should adopt "protective resolutions" which "imposed reports without ascertaining from the city officials any of the facts bearing on the subjects."

According to the communication, the council took a recess at its regular meeting on January 17 to discuss principally the purchase of land for a park and the location of the proposed incinerator, and the matter of restoring salaries was merely incidental.

SECRECY DENIED.

Following this recess, the council returned to the council chambers and completed in open meeting its business, which included the passage of the restoration resolutions, the communication sets forth.

"The present council has never held a star chamber session," the communication states. "All its sessions have been openly held in the council chamber as required by law. It is quite necessary, however, to hold committee meetings; such conferences are incidental to all legislative bodies from the congress of the United States to the board of trustees of our smallest towns. They are essential to the best interests of our citizens, particularly where the purchase of land is involved."

REASONS GIVEN.

Regarding the salaries, the communication calls attention that the council is empowered to fix the compensation of city employees. The communication continues:

"Nine employees were embraced in the resolution restoring salaries inasmuch as the council considered the restoration to be for the best interests of the city. Several of them would have been underpaid by a reduction. The work done by some of the employees is of a highly specialized nature and if the city should lose their services it would be difficult to fill the positions."

"The total amount involved in all nine salaries is only $55 a month, and this did not cause any increase in taxes. Surely the council, after having reduced the tax rate thirty cents per hundred dollars, with a consequent annual saving to the taxpayers of $64,000, cannot be justly criticized for its judgment in spending this small amount of $55 per month."

THROUGH STAGE LINE IS ASKED TO SANTA CRUZ

SANTA CRUZ, Feb. 16.—H. A. Cross of San Jose, who is now operating a stage line under a franchise from the State commission between San Jose and Big Basin was in Santa Cruz yesterday for a hearing before the State Board on his application to extend his route from Big Basin to Santa Cruz, to handle only through passengers from Big Basin to this city and return.

This franchise is asked because it is thought it will better conditions into and out of State Redwood park, and will prove beneficial to Santa Cruz as well as the other end of the line, affording, as it will, a direct and convenient service between Santa Cruz and the park.

The present service consists of two disconnected stage lines, one running from Santa Cruz to Boulder Creek, the other from Boulder Creek to the park.

Accompanying Cross for the hearing before the state board yesterday were G. H. Barber, attorney, from San Francisco, who is representing Cross; F. H. Griffin, representing the Union State Depot at San Jose, and Andrew P. Hill, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of San Jose, and president of the Semprevivens Club of California.

ASSESSMENT IS TOO HIGH, IS RICHMOND PLEA

RICHMOND, Feb. 16.—County Assessor George O. Meese met with two Richmond committees today to go over the city's assessment rolls. Richmond property owners seek a revision downward, believing that this city, which pays into the county's treasury 40 per cent of the county's taxes, is too highly assessed.

The following committees were to confer with Meese: H. C. Shidham, Harry Ellis, Harry W. Werner, George S. Wall and Mrs. Tillie Brown, all of the Richmond Industrial Commission, and E. H. Kueffer, Frank Gardner, H. A. Johnston, M. A. Hays and V. J. Richards Jr. of the Richmond Realty Board.

At her apartments in the Hotel Oakland Mrs. Martin was reported on an automobile trip in the south and her mother professed to have no knowledge of the divorce action. Mrs. Martin has asked the custody of their little son, Charles Allen Martin.

EDITORIAL

Rubber Sponges have taken a tumble in price. We are now offering them for about half the price we offered them for in 1921.

It has always been our policy to insure the lowest possible price, as soon as wholesale costs come down irrespective of stock on hand which may have been bought at the higher wholesale quotation.

For example, Rubber Sponges that we sold for $1.00 are now selling for 50c.

BLACK UP YOUR OLD STRAW HATS

"Blacko" Will Do It.

We are now getting a good many calls for "Blacko."

This is a quick-drying stain that can be used upon wood and many other kinds of material. It is fine to darken up old furniture such as suit cases, hand bags, etc.

Its present demand is probably occasioned on account of its use in coloring old straw hats.

"Blacko" comes in jet black, dull black, blue and brown. It is waterproof and very durable.

We sell a bottle with a brush for 25c.

A GOOD ELECTRIC VIBRATOR FOR $5

You can get a good electric vibrator at Bowman's for $5.00.

These vibrators are giving good service and if you use them according to instructions they will last for a long time.

When you consider that you pay $1 for a massage, you can easily figure that it will not take very long to pay for one of these vibrators.

They can be attached to an ordinary electric socket and can be used for many purposes at home.

AROMATIC CASCARA

Have you ever tried Bowman's Aromatic Cascara?

This is one of the most popular remedies of the kind in our store and is because it is palatable and easy to take, it is especially adapted to children.

We know of no other cathartic that we can recommend more confidently, 25c to 50c a bottle.

FOLDING COMBS

We have just received a shipment of folding combs. These combs are just the thing for your pocket or hand bag. If you have a boy who goes to school it might be a good idea to get one for him. It is a wonderful attractive and just the thing to amuse the little folks.

If you know anyone who has a baby here is a suggestion for a gift.

DO YOU ALWAYS GET BACKACHE PLASTERS

THE BEST OF ALL BACKACHE PLASTERS

Finest That You Can Buy—65c.

We believe we have the greatest backache plaster to be had anywhere. It is manufactured especially for our stores and is made of solid woolen English felt of the very finest kind obtainable.

There are imitations of this backache plaster on the market that are constructed of veneered woolen felt so you should be careful to make your purchase at our stores.

Many people think there is nothing better for strained muscles, pain in the back, and cold in the back, etc.

Of course you can buy porous plasters at almost any price and our price of 65c each for these may seem high, however, if they afford relief this is a very small sum to spend and they will most certainly help you if any plaster will.

We have been selling these for a great many years and have been told many, many times that they were the greatest porous plaster to be obtained anywhere.

Suppose you try one now if your back is bothering you.

HERE'S ONE FOR THE BABY

We have just received an import order of fancy-colored soft rubber balls which we are selling at 15c, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

These are wonderfully attractive and just the thing to amuse the little folks.

If you know anyone who has a baby here is a suggestion for a gift.

DO YOU NEED A HOT WATER BAG?

These are mighty good nights for Hot Water Bags and the best Hot Water Bag we know of for the money is a "QUART LYNWOOD BAG," selling at $2.00.

You will find these bags to be very serviceable especially if you give them any amount of reasonable care. Of course, you can't expect to pour boiling water into any hot water bag and get very long service, but you will find that the LYNWOOD BAG, if taken care of, will last for a long, long time.

A SPLENDID FACE CREAM

If you use a vanishing cream, we would suggest that you try one of the 25c glass jars of Peroxide Cream now being featured in our store.

This is one of the most inexpensive and at the same time, one of the best face preparations of the kind we have ever handled.

It carries with it the full guarantee of the Bowman Drug Company and anyone not entirely satisfied, can return the empty jar and receive their money back.

MISS HAMMOND WILL BE SEEN ON SILVER SCREEN

Daughter of Famous Mining Engineer Plays Part of Society Girl.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Playing the role which she assumes in every day life, that of a society girl, Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, daughter of Colonel John Hays Hammond, millionaire engineer and inventor, will soon appear on the silver screen.

The fact that Miss Hammond "broke into the movies," was made known today when the report was confirmed that she played in "Beyond the Rocks," a story by Elinor Glyn, while it was being filmed in a Paramount studio. Her father, mother and brother appeared with her.

Colonel Hammond today explained his daughter's entrance to the film world, accompanied by her parents. "There is nothing the Hammond family would not do to boost the moving picture industry or California," he said. "Very recently some pictures were taken in southern California and Mrs. Hammond, my daughter and son, Harris, and I were standing near. They asked us to get in the limelight to help out, which we did, thinking nothing more of the matter."

"If Natalie's being in the picture added to its attractiveness or its value, I am very well pleased. We have no ambition in the moving picture direction, but if anything we can do to will advance them, you will find the Hammond family just as much interested as it has been in developing the essential qualifications, that is, I mean to say—the big things in life—as I have endeavored to make my life's work."

Millionaire's Daughter Makes Film Debut

Because Elinor Glyn believes, society drama should be enacted by real society people, Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, daughter of John Hays Hammond, the famous engineer-inventor, recently made her film debut at the Paramount studios. The occasion was the production of Mrs. Glyn's "Beyond the Rocks," and the celebrated novelist lent her personal assistance in getting her distinguished player properly made up for the role. Ghost Bandit Takes Rest; Farmer Routed from Home

Phantom Thief Gets Away With Two Sacks of Flour, Sugar.

WAUKESHA, Ill., Feb. 16.—(By Associated Press.)—A hungry ghost with taking ways and with Mondays off, at dawn today had foiled a shotgun squad at the home of Mrs. Catherine Mikalovich, where an all-night vigil had been kept.

At all hours of the night the visitor has been heard, Mrs. Mikalovich informed Father Joseph Lauerman, to whom she went for protection. "He'll eat me out of house and home," she told him. "I don't know who he is but he can't be my husband's ghost. My husband never had an appetite like that."

During a recent night Mrs. Mikalovich heard him in the cellar, summoned the shotgun squad and found that two sacks of flour and fifty pounds of sugar had vanished and the coal supply diminished.

Daniel, her eldest boy, awoke one morning to find that his bed had been moved across the room. Michael Dezona, a cigar manufacturer, who lives in the house, said:

"Last Friday morning there was a peculiar noise at the door. I struck a match. The door flew open, the match was blown out and a hand grabbed me by the neck, choked me and then hit me on the nose."

The only nights on which the disturber has not been heard have been Monday nights, according to Mrs. Mikalovich. So now the shotgun squad has been organized to guard the house six nights a week.

$100 Offered To Person Who Shows That Ghosts Don't Exist.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 16.—(By Associated Press.)—The first person who can prove that supernatural causes are not responsible for uncanny happenings at Alex MacDonald's farm in Caledonia Mills will receive $100 if an offer made by Detective Carroll, of the provincial police, and Harold Whidden, a Halifax reporter, holds good.

After spending two days and three nights in the house with Whidden, Detective Carroll reported to his superiors his belief that neither fires nor other strange happenings there were the work of human hands.

While hunting for the spook alleged by MacDonald to be haunting his farm, Whidden and Carroll were slapped mysteriously, they say.

Whidden reported that he and the detective were lying on a bed on one side of the living room and MacDonald on a cot on the opposite side, when suddenly ghostly rappings were heard.

Then the scribe felt a slap on his arm and asked the detective what he was doing. The detective declared he had not moved.

Presently Carroll felt a slap, and told the scribe to keep still. Whidden declared he had not moved.

The mysterious slaps were repeated and detective and scribe arose and stirred up MacDonald, who declared he had been asleep. The spook hunters spent the rest of the night huddled in front of a roaring fire.

MacDonald left his home in mid-winter because, he said, that unseen hands played havoc with his cattle, and started fires in his home.

Friends who spent the night with him corroborated his story.

WILL TELL OF RELIEF WORK

Speaking in the interests of the campaign for $14,000,000 being conducted by the American Jewish Relief Committee to alleviate the suffering of the children in Russia and Poland, Rabbi Gold and Superior Judge George Samuels will address a congregation at Beth Jacob Temple, Ninth and Castro streets, Sunday night.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock, and Rabbi Gold, who will be the principal speaker, will tell of the work being done locally and nationally to raise the money which will be used to care for the children in those countries. Daniel A. Brown of Detroit is national chairman for the relief movement, and local chairmen have been appointed throughout the country.

A. E. Lavenson is local chairman of the relief drive, and Ben Silverstein is his assistant. Lavenson announced today that rapid progress is being made in raising the local quota of the fund. The money will be used for the care of all the suffering children of Russia and Poland, regardless of creed.

The drive has been endorsed by President Harding who, recently, in a letter to National Chairman Brown, declared he hoped the movement "would meet with the fullest measure of success." In his letter, commenting on the unfortunate children, the President said: "The presentations of their case which have come to my attention, have impressed me profoundly, and it is good to know that such an organization as your own is continuing the splendid work that in the past has been so very fruitful of humane and praiseworthy results."

TECHAU TAVERN CLOSES SATURDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—Techau Tavern, for twenty-one years one of the contributing factors in San Francisco's Bohemian activities, will close Saturday night. The management blames prohibition and a high rental.

According to Carlton Wall, who holds the lease for the premises, the future of the restaurant still is undecided. He admits that several agencies have offered to take over his lease.

The fact that the management of the Golden Pheasant restaurant has entered into negotiations with Wall has given rise to the belief that the tavern premises may be given over to a light-lunch and candy shop.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things:

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding food that disagrees with them, that irritates the stomach and lead to excess acid and secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bismarck Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bismarck Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of poisons or artificial stimulants.

Get few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the Bismarck form is not a laxative. Try this plan and you will find it the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."—Advertisement.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Advertisement.

PAST INFLUENCE IS IMPORTANT IN SCENARIO STORY

Characters' Acts, Speech Are Sometimes Determined By Past Events.

It is well to remember that a story does not always begin at the beginning. Sometimes it commences long before the time of which the narrative treats. What your characters say or do is determined by forces which in some cases lie far back in their life histories, as some worthy student of literature puts it, "the way to pick up a puppy dog—a little in front of the middle."

Moving pictures, in a series of quick flashes, can give the spectators a good idea of the salient points in the history of the characters. In "Orphans of the Storm" the opening scene shows two noblemen killing the young commoner who has married their sister, and shows them tearing the child of this union away from its mother and placing it on the steps of a church to be found by others. This scene takes but a few feet, but it tells the background and shows the audience clearly a fact in the life of the orphan that means much later on.

MAKE CHARACTERS SIMPLE.

It is well to make your characters as simple as you can and still have them interesting people. Do not make them of the dime novel type. The characters in such cheap fiction may be labeled detectives or bandits and they may even be given names—"Diamond Dick," "Mickey de Pinch," etc.—but they really have no substance; they are mere shadows.

These characters, as they are called, are unfortunately becoming less and less common on the screen, and if you wish to write stories suitable for the best kind of pictures, you will avoid them.

The old style of moving picture serials with their impossible happenings, wooden characters and absurd actions, are comparable to these dime novels. Villains with leering eyes, sneering lips and leering black mustaches are not encountered nowadays. Swinging knives, trap doors over flaming pits and bubbling caldrons are not met in Main street or in State street.

SHOULD INTEREST WRITER.

If you recall them you will realize that you were never interested in the characters. You could have seen the hero and heroine succumb to the wiles of the villain with complete indifference if it were not that such an event would stop the show.

All you cared for was to see more action if you cared anything at all about the performance.

This kind of story and this kind of writing is not worthy of your time. Besides there is little or no market for this kind of thing and money. The brand of cheap, fast and eight years ago is losing its attraction.

Have your characters do exciting things if you want, but make them real people, feel their presence and make them do things consistent with their personal traits.

R. MORRIS—It will be necessary for you to state your division before the scenario editor can answer your questions.

SAMUEL J. LANTZ—The TRIBUNE has no way of submitting your 15,000 word scenario to the producers. Why don't you do it yourself? Your opinion of the TRIBUNE's fairness, because the scenario editor cannot handle your 15,000-word manuscript, is uncalled for.

SUBSCRIBER—Producers usually ask for non-technical synopses. A story, if told entirely in action, should be acceptable.

TRUMAN McCLEURG—You may enter Division A.

RAY E. CLAXTON—Your manuscript can be looked up if you will state your division. Decisions will be made as soon as possible after the contest closes, probably within a month. There are many thousands of manuscripts to be considered. Write a letter to the motion picture editor, who will give you a list of producers.

INTERESTED—Dialogue weakens your scenario-story and cannot possibly advance the action as action

There are other models; the special tourster, the special sedan, sport roadster and touring. Each one of these cars has been improved in some way.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—To do this you must water and feed your system—there's no need of having a shallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimpling—a bilious look in your face—sallow eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a powerful compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

Holding Husband

By Adele Garrison

"I wish to inquire after Marion Morton, a little girl who was brought in yesterday, suffering from concussion."

"Mary Martin?" the voice repeated. "Wait. I'll ask."

"No, Marion Morton," I repeated insistently, but there came the buzzer to ears with which the office phone connects with the wards, and I knew it was useless to speak again until the woman should come back to the telephone.

"There is no Mary Martin in the hospital," the droning voice said in another second.

Exasperated, but with a steady hand upon my impatience, I repeated the name very carefully, added again the information that the child had been brought in suffering from concussion after an accident.

"Oh! I heard a little girl of dismay, then, after a tense interval, the voice quickened into interest and sounded again.

"Are you the mother of the patient?"

"No, oh! What is it?" I felt a sudden hint of something terrible.

"We are sorry to tell you that the patient died an hour ago after suffering from convulsions all night."

"For a second the telephone booth and the waiting room went black before me, then I roused to action. The horrible thing she had told me might be true, but I meant to have other testimony than that of the woman whose inefficiency had been so patent on the day before.

I hardly knew my own voice, so hoarse and raucous was it, when I at last pulled myself together and spoke again to the woman at the hospital telephone.

"Hello! hello!" I called insistently when she did not answer my first call, wondering if she had cut me off after telling me the terrible news of Marion's death.

It was news that I would not believe, nor recall to the anxious heart of Robert Savarin waiting for me in the car outside the station. I had it confirmed from the lips of Marion's nurse, Dr. Pettit or Lillian herself. But my heart chilled with the certainty that if Marion were really gone, the mother would not be far behind her.

What was it the woman had said? I tried to think calmly even while I frantically snapped the receiver up and down in the effort to get her again upon the 'phone.

"DIDN'T!"

"Died an hour ago after suffering convulsions all night!"

If this were true, where was Dr. Pettit? He had promised to send for me if Lillian was in the voice, realizing that in an emergency of this sort confronting the woman—the breaking of the unexpected news of a death—she did not know what to do. With mighty effort, I controlled my own voice to measured calmness, spoke slowly and distinctly.

"Please call Miss Jones to the telephone."

"Miss Jones!" The voice held a helpless, sort of you-have-asked-something-impossible tone. "But she is on a case in a private room, and cannot be reached unless the message is most urgent."

"It is most urgent," I emphasized. "You have just told me that Miss Jones' patient is dead—"

"Why? The very idea!" The voice was peevish to its resentful astonishment. "I didn't say anything of the kind."

My pulses leaped hopefully, yet I did not dare say myself be certain. "I said icily, 'and have caused me untold agony of mind. I shall take this up with the board of governors and if you do not call Miss Jones at once.'"

WHAT MISS JONES SAID.

A helpless, hopeless sort of silence for fully half a minute—my brain vaguely registering hope and despair—then a sudden frightened: "Hold the wire."

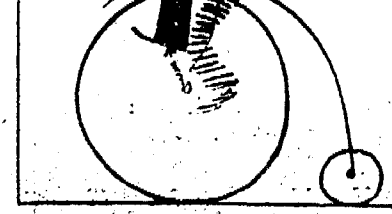

Another minute's wait, then crisp, fresh and efficient came the voice of Marion's nurse.

"This is Miss Jones. What is it, please?"

"Oh, Miss Jones!" I was almost hysterical in my doubt but this time it was Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Underwood's friend. They have just told me Marion is dead—is it true?"

WITCHES' & PIRATES' STORY

By Peggy Stiner.

729 Eleventh Street.

Once upon a time, ever so long ago and ever so far away, there lived a great and cruel king, who ruled over all the witches and goblins of that land.

He had a great castle that was built upon a very high cliff with the sea very far below. Now most of the shore was rocky and there were also many caves along the shore where the witches lived and in these caves were some of the most horrible things one would ever dream of.

There were bats and rats and black cats and snakes and goblins and everything.

Now it happened one dark and cold night that a great and terrible storm came up and so the king had a meeting to decide how they should wreck a certain ship which was out at sea. As they sat about the great fire in one of those horrible rooms, the king's eyes were fixed on the sea and he saw a light shining from the water.

"What is that?" he asked. "It is a light," answered one of the witches. "It is a light," answered another. "It is a light," answered a third. "It is a light," answered a fourth. IRVINGTON TO ASK CONSTRUCTION OF HIGHWAY LATERAL Unit To Connect Irvington With Niles-San Jose Highway Is Planned.

IRVINGTON, Feb. 16.—A highway lateral running from Irvington eastward to the main highway to San Jose is needed for future development of the rich country lying back of Irvington and as an outlet for the traffic through this community which has increased to a great extent the past few months, prominent business men of Irvington are saying today.

As the result of the discussion relative to the proposal it is predicted that the Chamber of Commerce will be called upon shortly to discuss the matter and to determine whether or not it will be possible for the county to give funds for the highway construction.

It is proposed to run the highway, should it be decided to construct it, over the county road to Mission San Jose or over the road striking the main highway two miles south of Niles.

Either route would mean only the construction of a two mile unit at a cost of not more than $40,000, it is believed.

With this highway Irvington would have paved lines of travel connecting it directly with all the larger towns of the Washington-Oakland belt.

The great increase in population and in industrial establishments here will be a potent factor in obtaining county support to the highway project, Irvington business men say.

"COST, PLUS" IS SLOGAN URGED ON STATE'S FARMERS

Rousing Meeting At Madison Farm Center Hears About Bloc At Capital.

WOODLAND, Feb. 16.—Cursing active organization among the producers and declaring that agriculture was receiving, for the first time in history, the legislative attention deserved, Director of Agriculture G. H. Hecke made a stirring address to a meeting of the Madison Farm Center at which over 100 active workers were present last night.

Sixty new members have been added to the roll call of this one of several existing here. She is 17, and for more than twelve years has been unable to see with her left eye, although the defect was not noticeable.

She came here from Kansas recently to live with her brother "Jack," physical director in one of the local schools here. She is 17, and for more than twelve years has been unable to see with her left eye, although the defect was not noticeable.

TELLS OF BLOC.

He told of the strength of the Farm Bureau Federation, of the possibility of the "agricultural bloc" and of the good accomplished by California in maintaining leadership in co-operative marketing and in the employment of government effort to secure beneficial legislation.

"The farmers are beginning to realize that it is their right to organize for their own protection and it is to be regretted that they have not awakened to this realization before," said Director Hecke. "By thorough and proper organization without appealing to the baser elements of politics, the producer finds himself in a position to demand right and the opposition in a position where it does not dare to deny that demand. This is the situation in Washington at the present time."

"Legislators realize that the demand of the farmer is a just one and that it is warranted because of the low price reached in the market for the products of agriculture. Congress knows that the damage wrought in the foundation rather than in the superstructure and that if agriculture, the foundation, falls, the superstructure crumbles."

"Representatives of the so-called special interests in the past have failed to sense this fear—now they realize that it is a near danger, and they are seeking to placate and pacify rather than resort to the arrogant and arbitrary methods of the past."

FOR ORGANIZATION.

"Stand with your organization—it is the greatest factor ever devised to make the farmer a power in agriculture and its allied industries. Sell your ship clear of the shoals of party politics, but mark well the men for whom you cast your ballots. Be certain that they will answer your call when it comes."

Director Hecke told of the power still wielded by William J. Bryan, who appeared as an onlooker at the Washington conference. As he said, it was known that he was present the great throng, representing the leading agriculturists of the United States, gave him a royal welcome. Bryan was a continuance of the work of organization and said the first man in the world was a farmer and the last man would be a farmer.

The meeting last night was indicative of the strength of the Farm Bureau organization in the county. Partisan politics was not mentioned. The farmers devoted their energies to the task of determining just what the future of agriculture was and in the effort to restore to agriculture and its allied industries the advantages of the past, with even a greater measure of opportunity for the future so that farm life might receive a baptism of betterment in all its varied features.

LIONS' CLUB TOLD OF THERMOMETER

The process of manufacturing thermometers was the subject of a talk given yesterday by S. F. Worswick of Rochester, N. Y., at the Lions Club luncheon at the Hotel Oakland.

"The hole in the tube of a half-minute fever thermometer is one-eighth the size of a human hair," said the speaker. Obviously it is impossible to bore the hole. It is drawn."

Worswick described how the glass is first prepared for the drawing process, passing through the hands of several expert workmen. The hot mass of glass is then placed in a tray at the bottom of a 150-foot tower. The speaker went on: "The base of the mass sticks to the plate. In superior court Lowell is drawn upward till it is converted into a slender string of hollow tubing reaching from the base of the tower to the top."

Worswick also stated that it is necessary to make an individual scale for every thermometer tube as a fixed scale, for all tubes will not work accurately. He also said that the scale is attached to the thermometer, either naturally or artificially, to insure permanent accuracy.

A talk was also given by Dr. William J. Johnson on the religious side of Abraham Lincoln's life.

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau of Information

Will you kindly tell me how to detect frozen oranges, which are said to be on the market now and which the local board of health has advised the public not to eat? queries a TRIBUNE reader.

Place the oranges in a large dishpan of cold water. The ones that float readily are the ones that have been frozen, while the good ones will sink to the bottom of the pan. Another test is to cut the oranges in half crosswise. If some sections show a lighter shade of yellow at several places, and are somewhat dried up and pitted, it indicates that the orange has been frozen.

A PROPOSAL OF FIAT MONEY.

History has pretty well established the axiom that the greatest public danger is threatened by those men who by some unique or spectacular circumstances or by a touch of genius attain a prominent position because of their success in a special narrow line and then attempt to advise the public about matters concerning which they are and choose to remain ignorant. We have had men successful in a single line of business attempt to advise the country on questions of statesmanship and national policy, with enduring harmful results. A plow manufacturing company once went into bankruptcy because it specialized in a plowshare designed by an artist.

As a more familiar illustration, Mr. Henry Ford has been a phenomenal success in making and marketing popular automobiles, but he failed dismally as a peace emissary to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." Now Mr. Ford has proposed to take over the hydro-electric power plant and nitrate concentrator at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, under terms which would require the government to complete certain units of the project at an additional cost of $30,000,000. This proposal is now being examined by Congress and it may prove wholly meritorious, if not philanthropic. If so Mr. Ford is entitled to the equitable consideration of the government.

But the automobile maker unfortunately did not stop at offering to take the Muscle Shoals business off the hands of the government, providing an additional $30,000,000 was expended. He makes the further suggestion that instead of raising the $30,000,000 by bond issue or taxation the government should print paper money to that amount and use it in payment for labor and material.

Mr. Ford's aged good friend, Mr. Thomas A. Edison, gives out an interview supporting this suggestion. Mr. Edison, thinking to put the argument cogently, says:

"Under the old way any time we wish to add to the national wealth we are compelled to add to the national debt. Now that is what Henry Ford wants to prevent. He thinks it is stupid, and so do I, that for the loan of $30,000,000 of their own money the people of the United States should be compelled to pay $66,000,000—that is what it all amounts to, with interest."

And so we have from these two apparently innocent and generally harmless men a revival of the old discredited scheme of fiat money. That is what it amounts to—this suggestion that the government simply print paper money and exchange it for labor and material.

After a challenge in passing to Mr. Edison's statement that any time we wish to increase the national wealth we have to increase the national debt—because that is wholly false—we can sympathize with their disinclination to see $66,000,000 paid for the completion of a project that should cost on a cash basis only $30,000,000. But it is not necessary to resort to fiat money, to the irresponsible printing of unsecured paper script in order to avoid the higher cost. The work can be paid for by the government on a cash basis. Practically all domestic improvement projects have been conducted on a cash basis. There is no call to abandon the practice now. A bond issue is not necessary.

Perhaps Mr. Ford is rather embarrassed to ask a government to spend another $30,000,000 of fiat money on the Muscle Shoals adventure because he consents to take it off the government's hands. Perhaps he is not conscience-hardened enough for that. But why should he not be as tender with his fellow-citizens and abstain from proposing cheap money, fiat money, the same kind of money that was known in the greenback era of the seventies?

There have been such proposals before. Mr. George E. Roberts, former director of the United States Mint, says they have been tried in practically every country on earth and rejected by all. They are in operation in Russia, Austria, Germany and other European countries today. Cheap paper money, soon to be repudiated, with widespread bankruptcy, is their certain fruit. As Mr. Roberts says, the proponents of these financial fallacies are usually men whose educational opportunities in early life were limited.

JAPAN'S MILITARY BUDGET.

THE TRIBUNE a few weeks ago called attention to the fact that in preparing its budget of revenues and expenditures for the approaching fiscal year the Japanese government had given no consideration whatever to the almost certain results of the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments. Her military and naval program formulated in the period of war was being prosecuted as if no treaties of understanding and limitation were to be concluded.

Now the Washington conference has ended and the agreements have been signed and laid before the parliaments or other ratifying power of the several governments concerned. There is a four-power treaty pledging the great powers not to disturb or permit disturbance of the status quo in the Pacific area, which should eliminate entirely any real danger of trouble between any of the signatory nations. The treaty for reduction and limitation of naval armaments and for a holiday in naval construction is completed and signed.

Yet in spite of these arrangements Japan is preparing to spend about $324,000,000 on her army and navy during the twelve months of July 1, 1922, to June 30, 1923. This sum is sufficient to produce in Japan as much work as could be produced in America for one billion dollars. It comprises about forty-four percent of the total expenditures of the imperial government.

We have no means of knowing why Japan needs so large an expenditure for military and naval purposes. There have been acts which seem to indicate the real motive: such as attempts, which must be considered almost certainly to be studied, to create a cause of conflict in Siberia—the murder of Lieutenant Langdon, the outrages against Major Clarke of the Stevens railway mission, the journalist Frederick McCormick and others.

Possibly this assumption is incorrect, but one thing cannot be questioned: If Japan desires to make a convincing gesture of good faith fulfillment of the pledges lately undertaken at Washington there will be an early modification of her army and navy budget.

A CHANCE FOR EVERY ONE.

In the course of a year some 15,000 men and women are students at the University of California, including the summer session. In addition the university statisticians figure that they get in touch with about 625,000 persons by correspondence and extension courses. There are public night schools for adults in every large city and other means of obtaining instruction if one has real desire for it. Other States make comparable provision for spreading instruction. Briefly, any one who laments that he did not obtain an education in his childhood and youth need lament no longer. The man who must work with his hands today need not despair. He has an opportunity to pursue almost any study he desires and as many studies as he has the capacity to pursue.

It is not too late and there should be no false pride on the part of an adult in endeavoring to increase his store of learning. Adult education has come to be a special field and rapid progress is being made in closing the gap left by the deficiency in educational facilities of twenty-five or thirty years ago.

TO KEEP SPORTS CLEAN.

Lovers of amateur sport the country over will welcome the announcement that a meeting of the athletic directors of the Western Conference colleges will soon take place to discuss measures to eliminate from college athletics any taint of professionalism. Although the evil of professionalism is probably not so great as some would have us believe, nor the dangers arising from it so formidable, there can be little question that the "proselytizing of college athletes" in the words of Mr. Alton A. Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago, constitutes a real menace to the purity of college sport. Nor is the menace confined to the Western Conference colleges. The East, the Far West and the South have much the same problems to deal with. Sport, in short, is national in scope, and the problems of one section are problems that it shares with the others.

Measures to combat professionalism in college athletics will not lack for public support in their enforcement. For the special place that college sports hold in the esteem of the public comes from the fact that those who play them are amateurs, in whom the spirit of pure sportsmanship prevails. It is this that sets them apart from contests where the commercial element predominates, where the players play primarily for gain, and only secondarily for glory. The danger of professionalism in college athletics has grown greater with the growth in magnitude of intercollegiate contests. Football, in particular, has become a mammoth enterprise, and each of the leading football teams, during the course of the season, before crowds whose members total many hundreds of thousands. And this makes it all the more difficult to guard against the taint of professionalism.

The purity of college athletics rests in the hands of the athletic directors and authorities of the colleges concerned. The rules governing the status of amateurs are already sufficiently specific. Nor need the enforcement of these rules be a difficult matter. That the athletic authorities recognize their responsibility in the premises is made clear by the coming conference of Western athletic directors. Boston Transcript.

DAILY ALMANAC

Thursday, February 16.

Henry Watterson, editor, who died recently, was born on this day in 1849. . . . A high school class has finished an excursion through this office. . . . It must have been a great day in the young calendar. . . . Measured by giggles. . . . Samoset visited the Plymouth Colony with the well-rehearsed greeting, "Welcome Englishmen." In 1621. . . . In 1804 the Philadelphia was destroyed in Tripoli Harbor. . . . More dotty writing (see below). . . . George Kennan, journalist and author, was born in 1845. . . . Ft. Donelson surrendered in 1862.

In certain eastern centers of best sellers and culture a protest has been raised against what is called the "dotty" school of writers. The novelist who would infer without saying as much and who leaves his sentences . . . with a trail of dots . . . like this is being accused of tricks and whims. The system has certain bids for justification. It would allow the reader to disembark from the writer's train of thought, to stand reflective at a way station, or to carry on in a train of his own. Up in the paragraph at the pinnacle of this column, that section in which great men are born every day, there is a consistency in the dotty method. Once in a while, we take it, a man may dotty even if his dotiness conduces in no more wayward an action than the tapping of a period.

It remains for some tobacco company to buy up the Russian ruble supply for coupons.

Seems like they never cease peeling in Hollywood.

The Russian government jails persons who do not return borrowed books. A few more evidences of this kind and Lenin will win recognition.

We have heard of stolen ballot boxes and stolen elections, but the Berkeley man who walked off with the election tent set a new record in exercising one's privileges as a voter.

The Genoa conference, we read, is going to have an agenda. Beats all now quick other countries are to take up our improvements.

It takes the news to show the world. How calloused people are. How many are there that did not grin at Pussfoot's cigar?

To say that Pussfoot Johnson, who preached against booze, bottled and bootleg, has no right to smoke a cigar is as inconsistent as to say that the foremost champion of dousing the cigarettes should not drink wine. We hear Volstead, for instance, derided because he chews tobacco and wonder why it is that the international order of plug-chasers does not strike back and denounce him for the habit. One would think, from the tenor of some of the cries that are raised, that it was not accepted that the reformer invariably tackles the habits of someone else. The only exception is that modest individual who makes over himself and there is no record that he needs a platform or a salary. The most exemplary reformer we ever knew was the one who shifted the sawdust in a figure in a dressmaking shop.

Owing to the advance in the price of wheat our favorite restaurant is tossing the wheatcakes higher and serving three instead of four.

With bootleggers amassing fortunes the day may come when family history will date back to the still in granddad's barn.

The motion picture weekly that shows Jim Phelan in the act of asking the Sphinx if it would be wise to run for governor may count on capacity houses.

While we have regarded some of these "weeks," that are being jammed into the year until folks are calling for thirteen months to hold them, as purposeless and silly, this "go to the theater week" meets with unqualified endorsement. There is no man, for instance, who has not taken his wife away from the dinner dishes and the darning since the days when she was still wearing her wedding outfit. He has discovered that she can laugh as she did when she was a girl. There is another fellow, the one who goes about telling the jokes he heard in a show in '92. If the week has done nothing else but give him a new program of jokes it has justified its fondest hopes. We arranged a schedule early and have been put to it in all of the shows. At this writing it is in order to report we have taken on weight, forgotten several troubles, and have met friends we have not seen in years. The one best celebrant, everything considered, was the burly truckman, who stayed home and watched the babies while his wife and oldest daughter took in the shows.

"Terrestrial battle coming," says an astronomer. Maybe something will knock the spots off the sun.

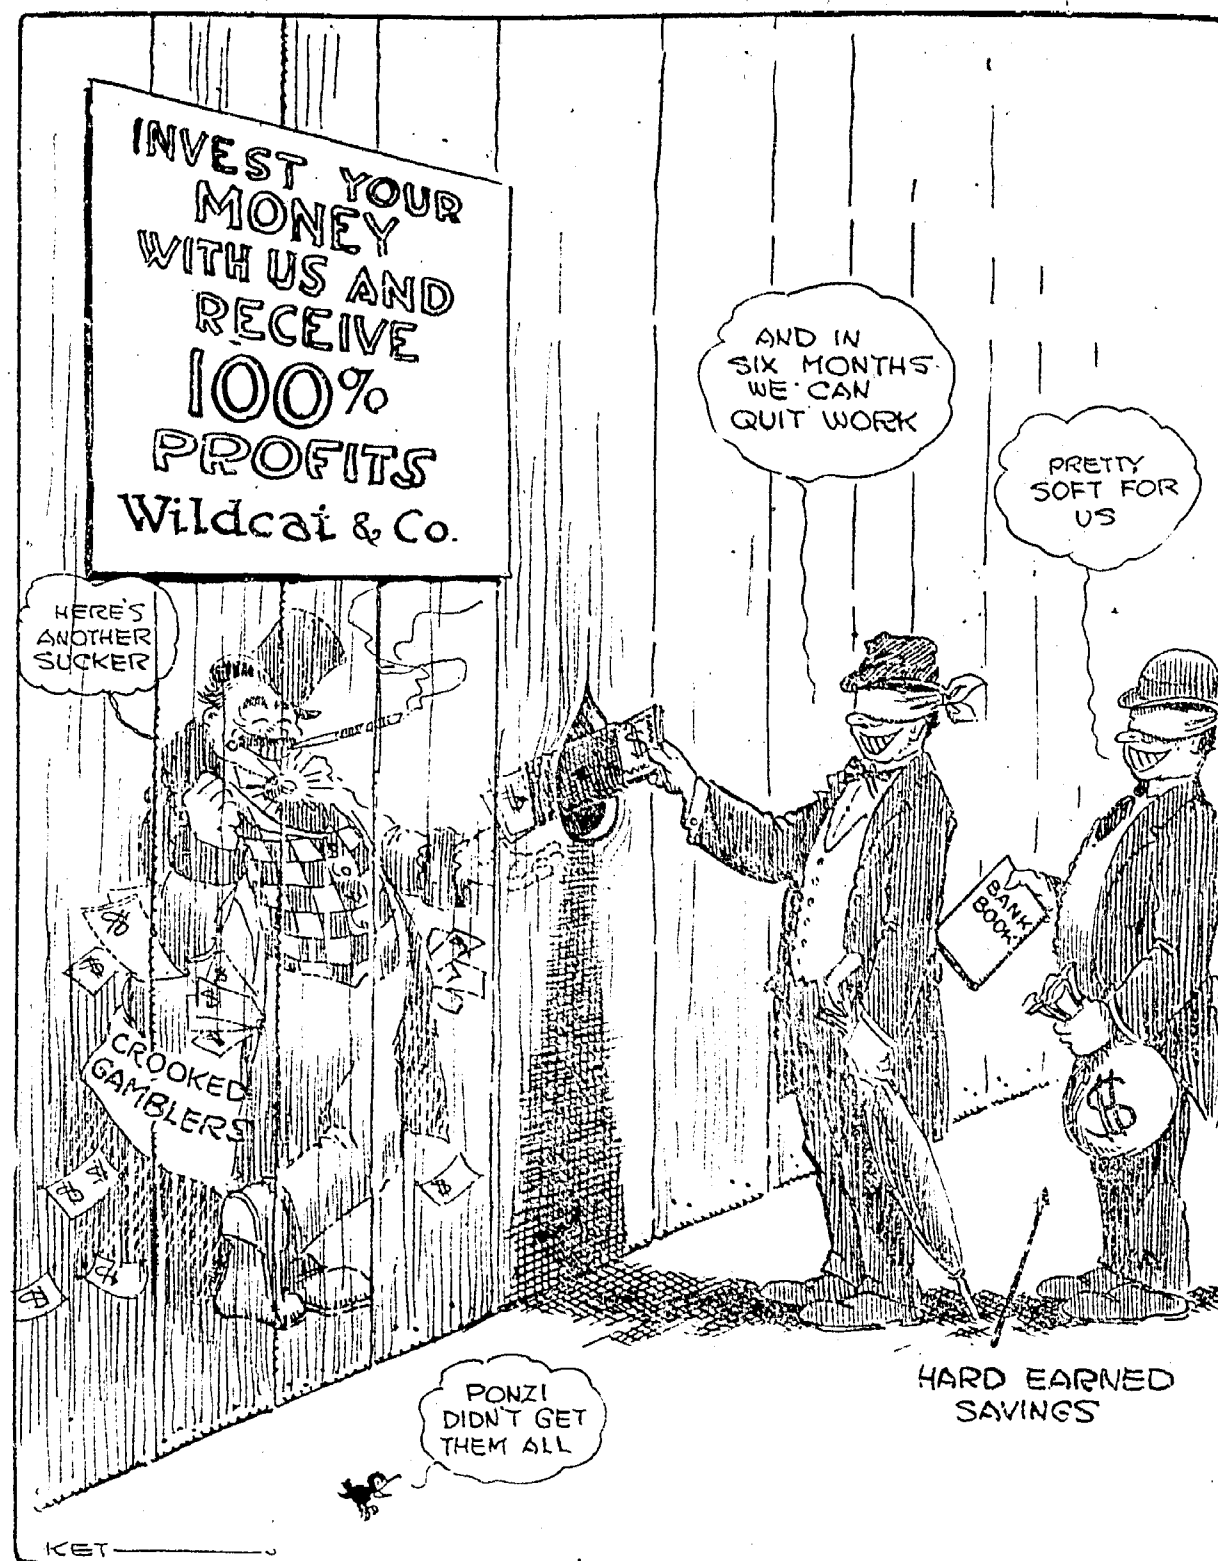

The other day we heard a lecture at the University of California. "The chief expression of the English," said the speaker, "is their sense of humor." With or without reason, there was a laugh from his crowd, which the lecturer, with some pique silenced. "There is nothing funny about that," he said.

Who will join in a movement to squelch a man who puts forward the little paragraphs stuffed with astounding and disturbing statistics? A man is no more than comfortable before his fire when the eye, running the columns of his favorite paper, finds that one company, alone, makes a billion and a half pills a year. The thing calls for mathematics, self-examination and stock taking. Have you taken your share of those pills? Do you know what your share is? How do you feel? Why should any pill counting paragraph be allowed to spoil a perfectly good evening?

Whenever a man has a whale of a time he spouts about it afterwards.

GREATER THAN VICTORY.
I thought I'd done a dreadful thing.
My hope had fallen fluttering
And I had failed where I had tried
For conquest and its touch of pride.
I'd done my best and it had lost
And in despair I summed the cost.
But quickly I was reconciled.
She heard my story through, and smiled.

"What matters it?" she said to me,
"We did not need the victory."
Then Bud came bounding through the door,
And helter-skelter on the floor
I romped with him, forgetting there
The hurt of failure and despair.
As happy at the close of day
As though success had come my way.

Bud and his mother—blessed pair!
Were proof against the stings of care.
They would not change or love me less
Because I faltered in success.
They did not, to be proud of me,
Always require a victory.
And though despair had left me
glum,
They still would smile to see me come.

Here is the cure for every ache.
The balm to comfort each mistake.
So long as they who understand,
Rejoice to take me by the hand
And gladly welcome me at night,
I still can master every plight.
Here is the greater victory.
Always to have them proud of me.

A SAILOR'S PROTEST.
To the Editor of THE TRIBUNE:

While reading a copy of your edition of February 7 we Gobs happened to notice the story of Mr. Frank Mayo, entitled "Burning—Hollywood—Scatter It." He used the expression his class spent their money "like a drunken sailor." We believe this to be a very poor way of comparison. Seems to be some mistake, or brainless judgment on his part. When, where did he get the phrase? We do not know his position during the war, but only as a movie man. But I take it that he was in no service, or he would give his life a second thought. I would suggest that Mr. Mayo and all other actors live on navy pay awhile and see how dirty they could get. Again, we think the same as Mr. Mayo does: Why shouldn't we sailors have respect for our name and art, too? Adolph Zukor's mind runs like mine. People see one sailor drunk; they think they all do the same. And it is for us to keep the navy up to its standard—clean.

about YOUR HEALTH

Why Deep Breathing Is a Real Aid to Digestion.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

Common sense in eating is just as commendable as it is when applied to anything else in life. When you have accustomed yourself to a certain food program, don't change your practice unless there is some outstanding reason for doing so.

The scales tell the story. If you appear well-nourished, and your weight remains about the same month after month and from year to year, it is probable you are giving yourself the right sort of food and the right quantity of food.

Don't worry over trifling and transient variations in weight.

A prominent athlete told me he had taken off six or seven pounds in weight in half a day. At the moment he made this statement his clothing was as wet as if it had been dipped in water. As a matter of fact, it actually had been soaked in water, because as the result of vigorous exercise under a rubber jacket and a thick sweater, his skin was pouring out streams of perspiration. Loss of weight under these circumstances is due to loss of water from the tissues, and this loss may be replaced in a day or two.

The Turkish bath and the electric light cabinet are capable of extracting water from the tissues, but their use does not reduce fatness. The loss of weight is due to the extracted fluid, and may be restored in a day.

In a similar way, and for the same reason, a spell of manual labor with profuse perspiration may give you a passing fall in weight.

Food is of no value to the body unless it is oxidized. It is like fuel in a furnace. Unless the fuel is burned it generates no heat. To get energy out of the food you have eaten you must habitually fill your lungs with oxygen. This enables your red corpuscles to have full cargoes of hemoglobin, which houses—or, more properly, oxidizes the food. This action reduces the food to forms which can be absorbed and utilized by the body.

One reason why narrow-chested and shallow-breathing persons are pale and very thin is because they don't breathe properly. They take little, stinging breaths, and never open up their lungs to receive great volumes of fresh oxygen-laden air. They are like a furnace with no "draft." This is only enough oxygen to make smoke, and not enough to create a flame.

O'HARA GETS SECOND CHANCE WITH EDDIE DIGGINS TONIGHT

OREGON PLAYS HARD GAME AGAINST UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA BUT LOSES SECOND COMBAT

DIGGINS AND O'HARA BATTLE TONIGHT HAS CUSTOMERS ON EDGE

Crack Lightweights Await Gong That Will Start Them Over Four-Round Route.

By BOB SHAND.
Tonight at the Auditorium Teddy O'Hara gets his "second chance" to remain a top-liner at the local boxing shows. Three weeks ago, following his unsatisfactory fight with Eddie Diggin, O'Hara was dropped down among the preliminaries where he was expected to remain for some considerable time. Teddy boxed Joe Herrera, a real tough lightweight from the other side of the bay and so well did the local boy box that he was at once tilted to the top of the card and given a bout with Eddie Diggin. No local boxer was ever given as many chances as O'Hara and it is strictly up to Teddy to make good. In Diggin he is meeting a cleverer youngster with a fair punch but a boy with very little experience. Eddie knocked out some of the second-raters and held his own with the best in his class but if O'Hara boxes as he did last week the speedy Diggin will need everything he had in his former bouts to get over the Watts tract hurdle. Against Herrera last week O'Hara put up a dazzling exhibition. There was nothing very fancy about his boxing but he timed every punch and when he socked he socked good. The bell saved Herrera on two occasions and at other times Joe appeared ready for the sponge.

If O'Hara comes to the punch he will have a battle against Diggin tonight. He has an even chance of winning and, incidentally, getting back into popularity. The customers, who were not in the arena when he was knocked out, are expected to be present in large numbers. It may be that Diggin has learned his lesson and will be a better boxer than he was before. His chief fault is being too head in the heat of battle and doing things that would not lead to a head under ordinary conditions.

Boxers Will Have To Live Up To The Rules.

Both boys know the rules and they will be expected to live up to them. When they are ordered to break by the referee they must stop back without hitting, but if they break of their own volition it is their fault. In other words, they will be expected to break only when they are ordered to do so. If they are fighting in close and neither is holding, they can withdraw at any time. It may be that Diggin is laid up with a cold and will be unable to box Joe Lynch and the special event, but Macemaker's manager has given another lad named Tony Gregory, who has been winning his fights in the Valley, a chance to fight O'Hara. The manager guarantees he will give Lynch a real argument. Gregory claims a four-round victory over Joe Lynch and has defeated other local main event performers. He was being saved for a special event next week, but in the emergency occurred by Tony's illness Tony had to use him against Lynch at tonight's show.

Lavin is a big man in the ring and as he has a few more take a crack at George Gibbons, Al Hogg, Bob Collins and a few others he will level tonight right from the jump.

Bob Janssen, Star Center, Is Out of the Game; Frosh Teams To Play.

By S. N. PIERCE.
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 16.—Coach Gene Van Gent is grooming the Stanford basketball team for the two-game series that will be played here with the Oregon team tomorrow and Saturday nights. As Oregon, the cellar champions of the Pacific coast conference, fell twice before the Stanford team on the Eugene court, it is to be assumed that the Bruins will have little difficulty in turning the trick again before the home crowd.

OREGON MAKES GREAT FIGHT AGAINST BEAR MEN IN RETURN GAME

California Wins 30-22 in Game Featured By Great Rally By Visitors in Second Half.

By DOUG MONTELL.
In the vernacular of the times "the University of Oregon snapped out of it" last night at the Oakland auditorium in their second game with the University of California and fought the Bears to a close score of 30-22 in the final game of the two-game series. It was a marked reversal of the play of the preceding evening when the Oregonians were content to allow the Bruins to do all the playing. Last night the Oregonians forced the play for the first ten minutes of the first half before relying on their defensive play and in the second half came to life to completely outplay the local collegians, running up 19 points to California's 17 in the second period. It was one of those contests that come unexpected, producing a good game of basketball, and while the Blue and Gold appeared to be just as superior a team as the night before, they relaxed under Oregon's peculiar style of basketball and were at a loss how to cope with the situation when the Webfooters unleashed a flood of long shots that connected.

ONE PCT. OF PAY
ASKED OF ALL FOR
UNEMPLOYED AIDFund of $60,000 in Eight Weeks To Help Idle Citizens Aim of Campaign.

Starting March 3 every worker will be asked to contribute 1 per cent of his salary each week to the unemployed.

This was the decision announced today by the Citizens' Emergency Employment and Relief Committee, headed by Tom Eagleton, chairman of the committee, and arranged with J. C. Ewing to act as chairman of the campaign.

The plan is announced to collect this 1 per cent toll for a period of eight weeks and thus raise a sum of $60,000.

This money will be expended on public work at which the unemployed workers will be put to work.

Ewing stressed the idea that the 1 per cent feature of the plan was for employers only and that business men and employers in general would be called upon for substantial sums.

SUPPORT OF CLUBS.

The drive for the unemployed is made possible, Ewing declared, "through the fact that the Salvation Army which has contemplated such a campaign has volunteered to postpone it until May."

Things were to have headed this Salvation Army drive, agreed on its postponement to become chairman of the relief drive and throw the full strength of his organization into it.

Yesterday the Lions club and the Kiwanis both made formal announcements of their whole-hearted support of the campaign, and it is expected that all the luncheon clubs and every civic organization in Oakland will aid the campaign. Hundreds of workers will be enlisted, and the drive will be managed from the headquarters at 1550 Broadway.

Reports that the auditorium is in need of repairs have not affected the committee's plans for the big theatrical entertainment at the Auditorium theater next Monday night. Ewing said today that he had conferred with Commissioner Albert E. Carter and others in possession of the facts, and was convinced that the auditorium is not dangerous to be carried out, according to schedule, he said.

"The response to the efforts of the committee has been good," Ewing declared, "and I feel sure citizens will rise to the occasion when the drive for funds gets under way. We are confronted with an emergency which it is the duty of every citizen to help us to meet."

There has been a report that persons are coming here from other cities to take advantage of the so-called charity which is being arranged for the unemployed. This is not true. A man must have been at least 30 days in the city before he is entitled to register at the woodward, and each case is carefully investigated. Furthermore, there is no charity in our plan. Except in a few isolated cases, where great and imminent need exists, we do not give money or groceries, but only aim to provide the head of the family with support his family. Such will be the use to which the money raised in the drive will be put. It will be spent on public work which will be of value to the citizens and at the same time keep bread in the mouths of hungry Oakland men, women and children.

The details of this plan of employment are being worked out with the city authorities.

Today there are 1635 men registered at the Municipal Woodyard. It will be noted that the number grows constantly larger, showing that the unemployment situation grows worse instead of better.

The committee has been active since its organization and will carry this matter to a successful conclusion.

VENIZELOS OFF FOR PERU.

PANAMA, Feb. 16.—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece, who has been touring Central America, sailed yesterday for Peru.

Women Lead? No! Say Men;
Yes! Is Feminine AnswerIs the American woman rapidly taking away the power of leadership from the men of the country?
Is the American man so swamped by business that he hasn't time to defend his rights of leadership?

Comes there from England a noted author, who says yes?

Today American citizens, both men and women, rallied, to a slight extent at least, to the defense of the old customs, and in giving their opinions on the questions were inclined to disagree with the English writer.

He is John Cowper Powys, who is delivering a series of lectures on social conditions at the University of California. Powys has been lecturing on conditions in England and, where, he says, the men still rule. In America, he predicts, women will soon assume practically all of the positions of leadership.

"It is women chiefly who have suffered from the Englishman's individuality at the expense of other social values," Powys said in a recent lecture. "This has made the English marriage a wholly different institution from marriage on the continent, and it has a determining effect on the position of women. When two people assert themselves and profess the creed of individualism, the more energetic carries the day. In England it has invariably been the man who has assumed the leadership of the family and the state. In America, despite the Anglo-Saxon heritage, man is rapidly giving place to woman's leadership. American men are so swamped by business that in ordinary practical life they are at a disadvantage."

"I do not agree with our English friend," Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, assembly leader of the Forty-first district, said today. "Of course, there are men who are, and deserve to be, crowded out of their homes by their more capable wives, and there are lackadaisical women who faint at the sight of a mouse, but these are the exception to the general run of Americans."

"American men, as I know them, are much more domestic than they are usually given credit for being, and the women more business-like. What man does not pride himself on the nice things he has purchased for his home and the members of his family?"

"Most American women love their homes and family more than anything else on earth, but economic conditions have forced many of them out in the business world. They are conscientious and give close attention to small details."

"My home is in a well-to-do section of classic Berkeley. Yet it is an every-day thing to see first-class lawyers, professors and business men washing dishes and hanging out clothes and to see club women, social butterflies and elite leaders cleaning automobiles or hoisting in their homes."

"I am doing the thing that lies nearest to me to do. America has long since ceased to do things in a pre-emptive way. I merely because it has always been the custom to do so. America is nothing if not self-reliant, a democratic. I believe that the senseless and arbitrary divisions of labor for the sexes are gradually giving way to mutual help, sympathy and understanding between the sexes. To a large degree the problems of one sex are the problems of the other and we are meeting things not as inferiors or superiors, but as equals."

"American men and women are working together as never before to make their respective homes and communities more prosperous, happier and better because they have lived."

Postmaster Joseph H. Houghton today took opposite sides with the English writer, declaring that leadership still rested, and would, on the broadest shoulders—meaning man's.

"Women are great for detail—that is true," said the postmaster. "They are much more thorough than men. They will pay attention to all of the little details of a thing that a man soon forgets. But that's a different matter. They cannot make the quick and big decisions that a man can. Women, in my estimation, are not fitted for executive positions. They are not meant to be leaders in that sense. I do not believe that there is any danger of their ever taking over the leadership of the country, particularly when it comes to government, but they can do a great deal of good."

MISS MARILYN JAMES, secretary of the California Civic League of Women Voters.—"The ultimate outcome of the woman entering the business world and civic affairs will result in her taking her share of responsibility on a par with man. Unless men wake up and pay more attention to civic affairs and less to business, women in the course of time will take away their leadership. This condition is largely due to the women, for the American woman demands so much for herself and her children that the father and husband must devote his entire time to commercial affairs."

"I do think that the women are taking their rightful place in the leadership of the civic life and business, and as far as the home she has almost always her share in the handling of things."

CARSTEN SCHMIDT, merchant, and president of the Oakland Rotary Club.—"I do not believe that women are taking the leadership of the country, but I do believe that they are rapidly acting on an equal footing. And this is a feature that is being welcomed by all big men. The big men of the country are welcoming the coming of the women into affairs. Even in some cases into politics. I think that the women can do a great deal of good in politics. They would be more earnest and take their responsibilities more seriously than some men. They would be honest and could not be approached."

"I don't think they are or expect to take the leadership from men."

MRS. GEORGIE ORMSBY of the Oakland Board of Education, speaking of the part played by education in a mutual understanding and distribution of responsibility between the two sexes, stated:

"Our system of public education tends to divide between the sexes responsibility as to the general upbringing of the home, the community and the nation."

"The cooperation and good fellowship which is being established between the husband and wife stimulates interest in public affairs. Working jointly with separate viewpoints we are bound to establish great good eventually."

"I think it would be rather difficult for any man, especially a foreigner, to accurately determine what the American woman will do."

ABE LEACH, attorney.—"Leadership is assumed by individuals, by men in some fields and women in others. In national affairs I think men make better leaders than women. Leadership is always in the hands of those who take the initiative."

Film Debate in Alameda Is Called

ALAMEDA, Feb. 16.—"What is the matter with the movies?" will be the subject of a debate tomorrow night by Charles C. Wilson, as one of the present-day problems considered in the launching of the new community forum at the Adelphi Club hall.

Who is right? Frank Mayo, an actor, states: "The Hollywood film colony is a pernicious influence. Scatter it, abolish it, burn it up."

The mayor of Los Angeles insists that the actresses and actors are fine citizens and good neighbors.

Adolph Zukor claims that "there is no more immorality in Hollywood than in the New York Stock Exchange." Then Hobart Bosworth throws down the challenge to the public: "You think that we of the motion picture world are rotten. Through the confessions of the box office boys, you know that you, the public, are rotten."

The forum will be open to the public regardless of creed, race or party. It is planned to have various questions of public interest discussed. Special music will be furnished. No admission will be charged. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

BOY BANDITS CONFESS.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16.—Following the arrest of three young men on suspicion of being members of a gang of burglars, the Boyle Heights police reported today that two of the suspects confessed that they participated in more than thirty recent burglaries in Hollywood, Boyle Heights, the University district and other parts of Los Angeles.

SPECIAL CHILD TRAINING TO BE MEETING SUBJECT

Regional Conference of Educators To Be Held Saturday at Hotel Oakland.

A regional conference of the state's foremost educators, to determine how to better the scholarship condition of children with wide ranges of ability, will be held at the Hotel Oakland Saturday morning, as announced today by Dr. Virgil Dickinson, head of the Oakland bureau of research and guidance.

Oakland, it is admitted throughout the state, has made great strides toward solving the problem of uneven capabilities of school children. The abnormally bright and the abnormally dull child receive special training. One or two other cities are working along the same lines, but the state officials admit that there is no general plan for handling these matters, and the conference was called as a "round table discussion" to see what can be done throughout the state.

Among the delegates coming to the meeting are State Superintendent of Schools W. C. Wood; Dr. Shallenbarger-McNought, state director of elementary education; Dr. Louis M. Terman of Stanford University; Mrs. Sutherland and Fernald of Los Angeles, and Dr. Freeland of San Jose.

"The handling of special students in the elementary grades is a big topic," says Dr. Dickinson, who will explain his work and methods to the assembly. "We hope that the conference will have widespread results for good in the school system of the state."

Girl Opens 'Village' In Chicago; Claims City Is a Hick Town

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE, United Press Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Lillian Collier, hairdresser and stockbroker, has opened a Bohemian town in this country, branded Chicago as a "hick town" today.

Lillian trudged westward from New York to Chicago, an outpost of Greenwich village.

"I must preach the gospel of real life," she vowed.

Whereupon Lillian rented a two-story garage, set up a mission to convert the heathen to art and christened it "The Wind Blew Inn." She sells cakes and tea at 25 cents a copy to pay the annoying overhead.

IT MAY TAKE AEONS.

"Bohemianism will come in Chicago," she declared. "But it will take years, perhaps ages, maybe aeons. Who knows? But I am willing to sacrifice myself to bring it a step nearer."

"You ask what is wrong with Chicago? That it is too many folks just in from the corn belt. Really, they drive cows to pasture by here every morning. You know there aren't many real people here. I mean the things, the big things; who see the light."

Lillian, in a bath frock and perched high on a stepladder, whitewashed the rear wall of the temple as she rambled on. She wore no stockings. Her toes protruded from sandals.

"But," she moaned, swishing the wall with the whitewash, "I'll try to struggle on and teach the people the value of aesthetic effectiveness."

AND THE COPS BLEW IN.

Chicago police are regular village constables, Lillian complained.

Cops blew in "The Wind Blew Inn" the other night, she said, and raided the place. "Lookit," she confided, pointing to two statues, dressed all up in overalls. "They made me drap those nudes. Art, where art thou?"

Lillian must answer soon on charges of serving a stronger potion than tea in her cracked tea cups.

An old French proverb, she said, explains the apparent failure of Chicago to accept a Greenwich village.

The proverb: "You can take a hick out of the country but you can't take the country out of a hick."

Two Armed Men Rob Japanese of $86 and Watch

ALAMEDA, Feb. 16.—Two armed men wearing white handkerchiefs entered the laundry conducted by S. Kawamichi, 2412 Celtic avenue, and after forcibly pulling S. Ishio from bed, robbed him of $86 in money and a watch and chain valued at $72. They also took $2.50 from the purse of Mrs. Ishio.

According to the report to the police, Ishio stated he awakened to see one of the robbers ransacking the room. As he sat up in bed the robber pointed his gun at him. Then he seized Ishio by the throat and roughly pulled him from the bed, at the same time ordering him to make no outcry or he would be hurt.

Mrs. Ishio, in another room, was awakened, but the robber told her to remain in her bed. He then took her purse. Ishio was marched to the rear door of the laundry and there the second robber was encountered. He had been ransacking another portion of the place. Again admonishing Ishio to make no outcry, the men called the police, the two robbers left.

Ishio disregarded the injunctions of the two men and immediately called up the police. The only description that the latter have is that the two men appeared to be Greeks.

Banker Is Officer on Boy Scout's Range

ALAMEDA, Feb. 16.—Jesse L. Delaney, cashier of the Commercial National Bank, has been appointed range officer for the Boy Scout Marksmanship club in Alameda. The appointment was made by the War Department. Delaney has served as range officer at various army camps and is thoroughly conversant with the details of this work. A range is to be erected on the marsh, permission having been granted the Scouts at the last council session.

The scout rifle club consists of Charles Simpson, John Meldrum, Max Willemin, Oliver Mitchell, Albert Baulson, William Betten, Maxton Cunningham, Gilbert Pitman, Lee Norris, Henry Tim, Herman G. Celarius, Everett Sprague, Louis Kruse, Bruce Stephens, Kenneth Wells, Marcus Freeman, Burrows Hunting, Jack Bowen, Bernard Moran and Julian Dickie.

Youth Throws Lye; Boys' Eyes Imperiled

ALAMEDA, Feb. 16.—Floyd Hatcher, 434 Haight avenue, came near losing his sight yesterday while playing with a group of children near his home. One of the youngsters threw a can full of lye into the air and a quantity of the material flew into the boy's face. Complaint was made to the police and they are endeavoring to find the boy who threw the lye.

Student Affairs at University Halted

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—Several student affairs dates at the University of California have been cancelled, including senior assembly planned for tonight and two College Nights' scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. The cancellations were the result of a meeting with the cooperation of the local merchants, the goods purchased being given at wholesale prices.

Campanile Light To Guide Ships Again Is Urged

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—To guide ships through the Golden Gate, R. A. Watson, custodian of the University Campanile, is seeking a searchlight for the top of the structure on the college grounds. The light was promised by government officials several years ago, says Watson, and during the war for a period of three months the Campanile was an official lighthouse.

Lack of proper charting, however, caused many ships to go off their courses, and the light was darkened by order of the navy department, with the promise that it should shine again when new maps should be printed. The equipment is still in the college tower, and Watson has now sent letters to navy officials in Washington protesting against the issuance of new maps without the charting of the "Campanile light." If the light is secured again, Watson will become its keeper, and will take up living quarters in the tower.

REBUILT DREDGE TO BE LAUNCHED ON FEBRUARY 25

Reconstructed Craft Said To Be Finest of Its Kind in the Bay Region.

With flags flying and crew manning the masts, the dredge "Oakland Number One" will leave the harbor at 10 o'clock tomorrow, Feb. 25, and sail through the estuary on its way to the open sea, a brand-new vessel equipped with the latest devices and rebuilt from the keel up.

This was announced today by Skipper Tom Aiken of the dredge, who is also admiral or commodore or something of the municipal fleet consisting of two dredges, a floating pile-driver, two barges, ten pontoon barges and eight small boats and launches. The rebuilt dredge, according to Aiken, will immediately start work on the new channel, throwing the sand and silt upon the West Fourteenth street fill.

The dredge is said by experts to be about the finest craft of its kind in the bay. The pump, a brand-new affair, is so built that when sand and gravel eat out the lining, the pump can be re-lined in a couple of hours, instead of the dredge having to be laid up for a week, as in the past.

Goethals Tells His Attitude On Bridge

General George W. Goethals, en route here from Spokane, announced today that any inspection he would make of bridge possibilities in San Francisco Bay would be for his own enlightenment. He said that he has not been requested formally to make any investigation and that his stop in Oakland and San Francisco would be a short one, made possible only because he is on his way to Los Angeles to visit a sister.

General Goethals was interviewed at Spokane today before he took a train for Portland. He intimated that his schedule would not definitely rule out a visit to the bay, but that it was probable he would reach San Francisco by Saturday.

If anyone is expecting definite recommendations concerning a bay bridge from the famous engineer, he must be certain to have a definite exception for this much the man who built the Panama Canal would not discuss the matter.

Zoning Complaint Against Foss Killed

BERKELEY, Feb. 16.—Because a complaint against the Fred W. Foss company, of which County Treasurer Fred W. Foss is president, was correctly charged as a violation of the Berkeley zoning ordinance was dismissed today by Judge Robert Edgar.

The complaint was sworn to by Louis Lint, who charged Foss was violating the law in conducting a lumber business in a restricted area.

A new complaint will be sworn to by Lint, it is said.

Of this amount $123 has been spent for shoes needed by children and infants, and $140 for underwear, clothing and blankets. The work of the local Red Cross met with the cooperation of the local merchants, the goods purchased being given at wholesale prices.

Grain Elevator Plans To Handle MILLION BUSHELS

Mark Is Set For This Year, Says Secretary of Corporation At University.

One million bushels of grain. This is the mark that the California Farm Bureau Elevator corporation has set for the elevator in this city to handle this year.

W. H. Holleman, secretary of the corporation at the University of California, announced today that the plans for development include from six to ten prospective field elevators in the San Joaquin, Sacramento and Salinas valleys.

These elevators will handle the grain from the field and load it into the cars for shipment into the terminal in Oakland, where distribution by rail and water will be made.

Last year, according to Holleman, the local terminal elevator distributed between 500,000 and 750,000 bushels of grain and with the natural development of this year it is expected that 1,000,000 bushels will pour into and through the Oakland elevator.

"Although times are depressive for the farmer, we feel certain of success," said Holleman, "because the elevator handles such a tremendous saving. The field elevators act as feeders to the main terminal and our equipment in Oakland is such that we can unload a car of grain in fifteen minutes, effecting a tremendous saving."

"At the present time we have men in the field attending to the development of the field elevators, but just how many will be constructed this year is problematical."

Holleman denied that the corporation is fostering the use of the metal bins and said that it will be a matter in general use. He said that the first step is to have the elevators constructed and that the metal bins may follow later.

Poison in Medicine Kills Five Children

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Feb. 16.—The package of a poison, salts from which Mrs. Edward Rhodes of Klappan, Wash., administered doses to her five children last Saturday, which was followed by the death of all five, contained about ten per cent of an alkaloidal poison, according to an announcement made here last night by Herman Allen, prosecuting attorney of Lewis county following an analysis of the balance of the poison by the state chemist. An analysis of one of the children's stomachs has not been completed.
